IMPORTANT NOTES

ALL LOTS ARE SOLD SUBJECT TO OUR TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF SALE PRINTED ON PAGE 4

BUYERS' COMMISSION

16.26% (+VAT=20% gross) is added to the hammer price of all lots.

ROOM BIDDERS

1. Room bidders must register and obtain a bidding number on arrival. Proof of identity is required from clients new to us.
2. If successful in obtaining a lot please ensure you display your number clearly to the auctioneer and that it is your number that is called out. If there is any doubt about the hammer price or buyer, please draw this to the attention of the auctioneer immediately.
3. Payment may be made by cash, bank draft, cleared cheque, or credit card – we accept Access or Visa (a charge of 1.5% is made on credit card transactions). We also accept Laser Cash Card (maximum of €1,500) free of charges.

LIVE INTERNET BIDDING

You can bid "live" at this auction on our website. With live audio and visual broadcast you can see and hear the auctioneer and bid at the click of a mouse from the comfort of your home or office or wherever you can log on to the world wide web. AND best of all Whyte's charge you nothing extra for this service! You can even get an iPhone application to bid live at Whyte's from your mobile phone. Details from our website, www.whytes.ie

ABSENTEE BIDDING

1. If you are unable to attend you may bid before the sale, using the form provided. Enter the maximum you are prepared to offer for each lot and the auctioneer will represent you as if you are personally attending the sale. Lots are knocked down at one step above the next highest bid, and not necessarily at your highest bid. Example: your bid is €1000 and next highest bid is €800 – the hammer price is €850.
2. LIMIT BIDDING: Absentee bidders may limit their total purchases to a set amount by entering their limit on the bidding form. This is especially useful for bidders wishing to cover as many lots as possible while setting a maximum amount to spend.
3. "OR" BIDDING: Absentee bidders who wish to bid on two or more lots, but only wish to purchase one, may do so by entering "OR" between the bids – the lots will be bid on in catalogue order.
4. EQUAL BIDS: In the event of equal bids being received for the same lot the first received will be given preference. If the instruction "break ties" is entered on the bid form the auctioneer will increase the bid by one step in the event of equal bids being received or in the event of a tie with a room bidder.

5. "BUY" BIDS: Unless otherwise instructed bids of "Buy" or "Buy at Best" shall be taken to indicate bids of up to three times the stated higher estimate in the catalogue.
6. INVOICING AND PAYMENT: Successful absentee bidders will be sent a pro forma invoice immediately after the sale with details of payment methods. All invoices must be paid within 14 days of the date of the sale or the lot(s) may be deemed in default and any subsequent losses incurred on resale become the responsibility of the bidder. The Auctioneers and House Agents Act, under which we are licensed to hold public auctions, only allows for lots to be handed over to purchasers when paid for in full.

TELEPHONE BIDDING

Subject to availability we can telephone clients during the sale. This facility is only available on lots with a lower estimate of €500 or more.

CONDITION OF LOTS

Note: The lots in this sale are old artefacts and documents and vary greatly in condition. They are therefore offered with all faults and buyers are strongly recommended to satisfy themselves as to condition by inspecting them beforehand. Please see Terms and Conditions on page 4.

SHIPPING / POSTAGE

We do not handle this ourselves but will recommend a suitable company who can collect your purchases on your behalf and pack and despatch them to you once they have been paid for.

PRICES REALISED

A complete list of prices realised and unsold lots will be sent automatically to all absentee bidders and will be posted to our Internet website (www.whytes.ie) on the day after the sale.

FIREARMS

All firearms offered in this sale are either antiques or deactivated.

EXPORT LICENCES

May be required for objects of archaeological interest or of national importance sold to buyers outside the State.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF SALE NOTICE

Whyte & Sons Auctioneers Limited, trading as Whyte's, exercises all reasonable care to ensure that all descriptions are reliable and accurate, and that each item is genuine unless the contrary is indicated. However, the descriptions are not intended to be, are not and are not to be taken to be, statements of fact or representations of fact in relation to the lot. They are statements of the opinion of Whyte's, and attention is particularly drawn to clause 5 set out below. Comments and opinions, which may be found in or on lots as labels, notes, lists, catalogue prices, or any other means of expression, do not constitute part of lot descriptions and are not to be taken as such unless they are made or specifically verified by Whyte's.

Clause 1

- (a) Each lot is put up subject to any reserve price imposed by the vendor
- (b) Subject to sub-clause (a) of this clause, the highest bidder for each lot shall be the buyer thereof
- (c) If any dispute arises as to the highest bidder the auctioneer shall have absolute discretion to determine the dispute and may put up again and re-sell the lot in respect of which the dispute arises

Clause 2

- (a) The bidding and advances shall be regulated by and at the absolute discretion of the auctioneer and he shall have the right to refuse any bid or bids. NOTE: Where an agent bids, even on behalf of a disclosed client, the auctioneer nevertheless has the right at his discretion to refuse any such bid.
- (b) The buyer of each lot shall immediately on its sale, if required by the auctioneer, give him the name and address of the buyer and pay to Whyte's at his discretion the whole or part of the purchase money. If the buyer of any lot fails to comply with any such requirement Whyte's may put up again and re-sell the lot; if upon such re-sale a lower price is obtained than was obtained on the first sale the buyer in default on the first sale shall make good the difference in price and expenses of re-sale which shall become a debt due from him.
- (c) Where an agent purchases on behalf of an undisclosed client such agent shall be personally liable for payment of the purchase money to Whyte's and for safe delivery of the lot to the said client.

Clause 3

- (a) Whyte's reserves the rights to bid on behalf of clients including vendors, but shall not be liable for errors or omissions in executing instructions to bid.
- (b) Whyte's reserves the rights, before or during a sale, to group together lots belonging to the same vendor, to split up and to withdraw any lot or lots at Whyte's absolute discretion and without giving any reason in any case.
- (c) Whyte's acts as agent only, and therefore shall not be liable for any default of the buyer or vendor.

Clause 4

- (a) Each lot shall be at the buyer's risk from the fall of the hammer and shall be paid for in full before delivery and taken away at his expense within one day of the sale. The buyer will be responsible for all removal, storage and insurance charges in respect of any lot which has not been collected within one day of the date of sale.
- (b) If any buyer fails to pay in full for any lot within 14 days of the date of sale such lot may at any time thereafter at Whyte's discretion be put up for sale by auction again or sold privately; if upon such re-sale a lower price is obtained than was obtained on the first sale the buyer in default on the first sale shall make good the difference in price and the expenses of re-sale which shall become debt due from him.
- (c) Interest at 2 per cent per month and legal costs (if any) for recovery of monies due shall be payable by the buyer on any overdue account.

Clause 5

- (a) All lots are made available for inspection before each sale and each buyer, by making a bid, acknowledges that he has satisfied himself as to the physical condition, age and catalogue description of each lot (including but not restricted to whether the lot is damaged or has been repaired or restored).
- (b) All lots are sold with all faults and imperfections and errors of description and Whyte's and its employees, servants or agents shall not be responsible for any error of description or for the condition or authenticity of any lot, save for Clause 5 (c) below.

Written or verbal condition reports may be supplied by Whyte's on request but these are merely statements of opinion, and any error or omission in these reports may not be taken as grounds for a cancellation of sale or refund of any part of the purchase price or the cost of any repairs to the lot or lots reported on

- (c) If any lot sold at this auction is subsequently proved to be a "deliberate forgery", Whyte's will cancel the sale and refund to the buyer the total amount paid by the buyer for the item, in the currency of the original sale. The onus of proving a lot to be a "deliberate forgery" is on the buyer. For these purposes, "deliberate forgery" means a lot that in Whyte's reasonable opinion is an imitation created to deceive as to authorship, where the correct description of such authorship is not reflected by the description in the catalogue (taking into account any Glossary of Terms). No lot shall be considered a deliberate forgery by reason only of any damage and/or restoration and/or modification work of any kind (including repainting or overpainting). This guarantee does not apply if (i) either the catalogue description was in accordance with the generally accepted opinions of scholars and experts at the date of the sale, or the catalogue description indicated that there was a conflict of such opinions; (ii) or the only method of establishing at the date of the sale that the item was a counterfeit would have been by means of processes not then generally available or accepted, unreasonably expensive or impractical to use; or likely to have caused damage to the lot or likely (in Whyte's reasonable opinion) to have caused loss of value to the lot; or (iii) there has been no material loss in value of the lot from its value had it been in accordance with its description. This guarantee is provided for a period of seven (7) years after the date of the relevant auction, is solely for the benefit of the buyer and may not be transferred to any third party. Whyte's has discretion to extend the guarantee for a longer period. To be able to claim under this Guarantee, the buyer must (i) notify Whyte's in writing within three (3) weeks of receiving any information that causes the buyer to question the authenticity or attribution of the item, specifying the lot number, date of the auction at which it was purchased and the reasons why it is thought to be a deliberate forgery; and (ii) return the item to Whyte's in the same condition as the date of the sale to the buyer and be able to transfer good title in the item, free from the third party claims arising after the date of the sale. Whyte's has discretion to waive any of the above requirements. Whyte's may require the buyer to obtain at the buyer's cost the reports of two independent and recognised experts in the field, mutually acceptable to Whyte's and the buyer. Whyte's shall not be bound by any reports produced by the buyer, and reserves the right to seek additional expert advice at its own expense. In the event Whyte's decides to rescind the sale under this Guarantee, it may refund the buyer the reasonable costs of up to two mutually approved independent expert reports.

(d) Any lot listed as a "mixed lot, collection, range, portfolio etc." or stated to comprise or contain a collection or range of items which are not described shall be put up for sale not subject to rejection and shall be taken by the buyer with all (if any) faults, lack of genuineness and errors of description and numbers of items in the lot, and the buyer shall have no right to reject the lot; except that, notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this sub-clause, where before a sale a person intending to bid at the sale gives notice in writing to, and satisfies Whyte's that any such lot contains any item or items not described in the sale catalogue and that person specifically describes that item or those items in that notice, then that item or those items shall, as between Whyte's and that person, to be taken to form part of the description of the lot.

Clause 6

The respective rights and obligations of the parties shall be governed and interpreted by Irish law, and the buyer hereby submits to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Irish Courts.

SPECIAL CONDITIONS

- (a) The buyer shall pay Whyte's a commission at the rate of 16.26% (which excludes VAT at 23% under The Margin Scheme and which is not reclaimable) of the purchase price.
 - (b) Whyte's or its employees, servants or agents may, on request organise packing and shipping of lots purchased or may order on the buyer's behalf third parties to pack or ship purchases. Under no circumstances does Whyte's accept any liability whatsoever for any loss or damage howsoever occasioned in the course of such service.
 - (c) The buyer authorises Whyte's to use any photographs or illustrations of any lot purchased for any or all purposes as Whyte's may require.
- The placing of a bid will be taken as full agreement to all the above conditions.

c. 1000BC: Trio of Bronze Age Irish gold 'Ring Money'

Gold 'ring money' in the form of three plain rings, originating from Northern Ireland. Extremely scarce as a trio. Pre Christian Ireland had a very precise set of laws which usually involved a payment by the perpetrator of a crime to the victim or the victim's family. The punishment for default was death. The records of these laws (mostly dating from Christian era documents) state that slaves and cattle were an accepted medium of large exchange. Presumably smaller exchanges were made on a similar basis with tools and ornaments. There are a number of gold and gold plated rings found in Irish and other Celtic contexts referred to as 'ring money'. The variation in the quality and standard of these pieces does not suggest a fixed denomination but rather that these items were used like hack silver and assayed at every exchange. The gold plated pieces are a problem in this context as they do not seem to be likely to have been made in imitation of solid pieces nor would they have been easy to assay. Hoards of Irish Celtic gold ornaments often consist of quantities of cloak fasteners suggesting that these items were used as a medium of exchange rather than just for fastening cloaks. But as with the ring money there is no evidence for a fixed series of weights and measures being used in their manufacture. We are grateful to John Stafford Langan, www.irishcoinage.com, for this note.

1738: Scarce example of dated Youghal delft

An extremely scarce Youghal delft plate. Decorated with the initials of a person "M.H" and the year 1738 within three concentric circles. Evidence suggests that Youghal produced delft from 1738 to 1751. This early example is one of very few known bearing a date. Many early trials were made for local families and this is most probably the case with this particular example. Its design corresponds with two other known plates which which were produced for Quakers, hence the simplicity of the design.

1714: Herman Moll map of Ireland

Detailed and large map of Ireland by cartographer, engraver, and publisher Herman Moll. It is impossible for me within the limits of a letter to answer your question as to the time of my next visit to you.

The proposal that has been made for Home rule in Ireland is for a return as far as possible to the old constitution of the parliament before the Union.
Chief of course in view of the consideration of the House of Lords myself concerned, to whose question is a bad. It has gone thru 3 readings. I think you will find full information in it - it is out of print. I have not a copy but I think by looking Thomson I can have one sent to you.

Will also request the Secretary of the Home Department see how best you any papers the English
Cabinet decided to put in motion at Govt of Irish. I then I send this is all ~~very~~ ^{very} ~~kindly~~ ^{kindly} ~~and~~ ^{and} ~~you~~ ^{you}

Yours very faithfully,

Confidential

Terence, May-15, 1961.

My dear Mr Wilson:-

A friend has sent me a copy of a paper containing some very kind remarks about me by you in connection with reference to myself. I am glad that you very kindly do the spirit has been, and to advise you that I value this highly. I write little for the sake of the money, but I am in a great deal of satisfaction with reference to the good opinion of my friends, and foremost among these in the Group of Longford I have always counted yourself and Mr. Parnell.

This is probably the last letter which I shall write from this side of the water, where I have been engaged, now since I landed, in a very strenuous effort to arrange for the necessary funds for the moment. The time has, and there have been other difficulties, but I believe a good commitment has been made, and I am encouraged to hope that, unless some new trouble should arise amongst ourselves, we may, spite of all drawbacks, prevent the movement from collapsing from want of means.

Having before many months to have the pleasure of seeing you in Longford,

Yours ever,

John Wilson May, Longford, Ireland.

1891 (17 August) Charles Stewart Parnell, Irish Parliamentary Party letter concerning the 'split'
An extremely interesting letter written and signed in the name of Charles Stewart Parnell by a member of staff. Headed 'Private and Confidential' and sent from Morrison's Hotel Dublin stating that "in view of the proposed change in directorate expected of the Freeman's Journal... steps should be taken to promote an independent national daily paper... a meeting of our leading friends should be held here on Thursday next." With original envelope addressed to Mr. M. Donnelly At the start of the Parnell split in the I.P.P., the Freeman's Journal came out strongly in favour of Parnell. However the paper defected to the anti-Parnellites and in doing so installed a new board, referred to in this letter. An interesting piece of Parliamentary Party history written at a time when Parnell found himself running out of friends and just a few months before his death.

1912 (15 April) The historically important Titanic telegram sent to the Belfast Evening Telegraph on the day of its sinking Manuscript on 'Post Office Telegraphs' headed paper, with date and receiving office stamp "Belfast Apr 15. 12" stating "White Star Liner Titanic wh. Reuters states is sinking in mid Atlantic as result of collision wi iceberg left Southampton last Wedy. on maiden voyage to New York. Titanic is largest vessel afloat having tonnage of 46,382 or 1004 more than Olympic. She has lgth of 882 feet wi ninety two feet breadth & was luxuriously fitted up wi especial regard to requirements of wealthy Americans".

This unique and historically important telegram was sent by the Press Association (as indicated by "P.A." in ms at top of the form) to the Belfast Evening Telegraph and received by journalist Robert (Bob) McComb. The date stamp bears the date of 15 April 1912, the day on which the Titanic sank in the North Atlantic Ocean, and the time is written as 10.39 (presumably morning, and as receipt in Belfast), about three hours after the ship had sunk) making this document the first notification of the ship's sinking and allowing the newspaper to be one of the first to break the news of the Titanic.

It is difficult to comprehend the disbelief and shock which must have greeted this telegram as it arrived at the offices of the Telegraph, the largest selling newspaper in Titanic's home city of Belfast. The news which the telegram gives reflects the fragmented and sparse nature of the initial information which filtered back to Ireland relating to the fate of the world's most famous ship. This telegram allowed the Telegraph to achieve the amazing feat of breaking the Titanic news on the same day as the sinking. Their dramatic headline was paraphrased from the content of the telegram and read "The Titanic Sinking". The desperation for more information would have clearly permeated throughout the offices of the newspaper and Bob McComb was gifted this important document as a reminder of one of the most shocking moments, not only in his career, but also in the history of Belfast.

McComb was one of the Telegraph's most celebrated and legendary journalists. He began working for the newspaper while it was under the management of Sir Robert Baird and was aged 41 and working as sub-editor in 1912. He served a total of 34 years on the staff of the Telegraph and was later described as having "covered some of the biggest news stories of his time, his resourcefulness when on an assignment was almost legendary". There would be few stories 'bigger' than that of Titanic.

Bob McComb died in May 1932 but his preservation of this historically important document insured its survival over the passing of 100 years, which is remarkable given its fragility. It serves as a tangible link between the events of a century ago and a city which spent three years creating the world's most famous ship, only to receive this telegram and news of its demise, with terrible loss of life, two weeks after seeing it leave.

10 x 8in. (25.40 x 20.32cm) framed, accompanied by cartoons of the journalist Robert McComb who received the telegram and wrote the story of the disaster for the Belfast Evening Telegraph.

1900 (7 January) Gold watch presented to Maud Gonne in New York
An 1891 model 'Lady Waltham' gold pocket watch presented to Maude Gonne on her visit to New York 1900 . Dust cover inscribed "Presented to Maude Gonne from Reception Committee New York Jan 7 1900". Case inscribed with monogram. Movement with serial number 7369783, which confirms the date of manufacture as between 1898 and 1902. This presentation piece relates to an important time in the life and Gonne and particularly her rise to public fame. With the outbreak of the Anglo-Boer War in 1899 Maud Gonne became a chairperson and financier behind the Irish Transvaal Committee which denounced British involvement in South Africa and actively attempted to hinder the war effort. Gonne was fully aware of the opportunities that the unpopular war could bring for promoting a more radical independence movement. In January 1900 she embarked on a trip to the United States in order to raise funds for the pro-Boer activities and also for Arthur Griffith's United Irishman newspaper in which she would publish, just a few months later, the infamous 'Famine Queen' article relating to Queen Victoria and her visit to Ireland.
€1,500-€2,000 (£1,250-£1,667 approx)

1887: Early portrait of Maud Gonne in France

Oil on canvas laid on board.

An extremely interesting portrait of a young Maud Gonne Signed lower right "Felix Jeannot 1887" and inscribed lower left "Mdlle. Maud Gonne" Contained in a frame by A. Bassi & Co, Wellington Quay, Dublin and with photographs of Maud Gonne (in later life) and Sean MacBride with Dr Noël Browne affixed verso. It is possible that the artist was an acquaintance while Gonne was in France. Gonne had links with France from an early age. She spent time in a boarding school in the country and decided to live there after the death of her father in 1886. This portrait painted shortly after this time and before her rise to fame would have more than likely been painted around the time of the start of her relationship with the radical journalist Lucien Millevoye with whom she would later have two children Georges and Iscult. 13.50 x 9.50in. 1916 (28 April – 2 May). The Rising in Enniscorthy – Unique and important documents including ceasefire order.

This remarkable collection of three documents comprise: (1) typescript "COMMANDEERING ORDER For Gen Staff" for shaving brush and stick, thought to have been issued by the Enniscorthy Volunteers, stamped with date of 28 April 1916; (2) typescript single page "I.R. Headquarters. To the Officers in Command. An armistice [sic] having been declared between our forces and those of the enemy you are to hold your position place piquets and cease active hostilities till further orders. SIGNED SEUMAS DOYLE for General Staff." Initialled "R.B." (Brigade Commandant Robert Brennan) and dated in manuscript "30 April"; (3) a manuscript letter on paper embossed "G.R." (Georgius Rex) "To Lady Wicklow – Lord Wicklow is in Enniscorthy and wishes to know how you are? Send me a note and I will convey it by telephone to him – (no private telegrams can be accepted until further notice) S.E. Mulligan (Postmaster) 2/5/1916"

These fascinating documents were found in Countess Wicklow's papers and show that the Seventh Earl, a reserve officer, possibly stationed in Wicklow, was apparently sent to Enniscorthy to assist Colonel G.A. French and his force of 1,000 men sent to quell the rising in Enniscorthy. The Volunteers, under the command of Robert Brennan, assisted by Seamus Doyle and Sean Etchingham, had, under James Connolly's orders, taken over the town, surrounded the RIC Barracks, blocked the railway from Rosslare, and all main roads. When the British forces arrived on 29 April the Volunteers refused to believe their assertion that there was a general surrender in Dublin, and insisted on receiving orders from Pádraig Pearse. The British under the command of local officers French and Howard (Earl of Wicklow) – who would have probably personally known many of the Volunteers – relented and arranged for Seamus Doyle and Sean Etchingham to be brought to Dublin to see Pearse on Sunday 30 April. On their return the same day the order in this archive was presumably given, and the next day, 1 May, the IV garrison surrendered. 270 were arrested, and the leaders, including Robert Brennan, Seamus Doyle, Sean Etchingham, James Rafter, RF King, Paul Galligan (whose forces occupied Ferns), and Michael de Lacy, were all sentenced to death but had their sentences commuted. This is only the second ceasefire order from the 1916 Rising recorded in private hands and as such is of immense importance and value. The ceasefire order from Pearse to the Enniscorthy garrison is in the Wexford Museum.

1916 and War of Independence medals awarded to Vincent Poole, G.P.O. Garrison

1916 medal (with replacement suspender) engraved on reverse "V. Poole" and 1919–21 War of Independence Service Medal with Comrac bar crudely marked on reverse "V. Poole". (2 items)
Vincent Poole was born in Dublin in 1881 and came from a strong Republican background. His brother Joseph Poole, who was executed in 1883 was a member of the Irish Republican Brotherhood and friend of Tom Clarke. Working as a labourer and living in the centre of Dublin Vincent Poole joined the Irish Citizen Army and served with Sean Connolly as part of the company that occupied City Hall on Easter Monday 1916. Later that evening, however, he was sent from City Hall to the G.P.O. where he served until the end of the Rebellion. For his involvement in the rising Vincent Poole was sentenced to death, which was later commuted to five years imprisonment. He served this time in England and was one of the instigators of the Lewes Jail hunger strike. Later in the War of Independence Poole served with the 2nd Battalion, Dublin Brigade, I.R.A. and took the anti-treaty side during the Civil War fighting at the Four Courts. In 1949 a photograph of Poole along with Jimmy Mallon and Liam Daly in front of the G.P.O. appeared on the cover of the Irish Times Pictorial magazine, described as one of the men who made "it possible for a Republic to be declared this weekend." He died in 1955 in Dublin and was buried, with full military honours, in Mount Jerome Cemetery. An extremely interesting pair of medals with potential for much further research.

1916 medal, 1919–21 War of Independence Service Medal with Comrac bar and 1971 50th Anniversary of the Truce Medal . (3 items)
Awarded to Patrick Connolly, a farmer from Tysaxon, Athenry, Galway who was born in 1888. His exact role and details of service during the Rebellion are not clear however it is known that he was imprisoned in Richmond Barracks at the end of the Rising and on 19 May was sent to Woking Detention Barracks. He died in January 1978. An interesting group to a Galway volunteer.

1916 (13 May to 4 July). An extraordinary correspondence re: Pádraig Pearse's Life Assurance Policy.
Correspondence between The Hibernian Bank (now incorporated in the Bank of Ireland Group), Dublin, and Sun Life Assurance Society, London (now incorporated in Royal Sun Alliance Insurance Group). Pearse apparently gave his insurance policy as security for a loan of about £663 (approximately €100,000 in today's terms) from The Hibernian Bank. On 10 May, a week to the day of Pearse's execution the bank wrote to Sun Life to make a claim on the policy (this letter referred to but missing from the archive). A Sun Life actuary replied on 13 May - "inform me whether the Life Assured was identical with the PH Pearse recently shot after trial by Court Martial".
On 31 May Sun Life claim "the circumstances under which [Pearse] met his death rendered...the policy void". However "desirous of dealing with the case in a liberal spirit" Sun Life offered an ex-gratia payment not exceeding the surrender value of the policy (£42.3s.0d). Hibernian Bank queried the condition under which the policy was void, and Sun Life replied there was no condition but under Common Law if the Assured is "killed in a duel, or feloniously destroys himself, or dies by the hand of the common hangman, or public executioner, the Policy is void".
The bank took legal opinion from D. & T. Fitzgerald Solicitors of St. Andrew's Street - Charles Hoey and R.A. Andrews, partners - who rejected Sun Life's position. The solicitors, on 8 June 1916, suggest a compromise whereby Sun Alliance would pay out provided the money was only applied to the debt owed by Pearse. On 10 June the bank furnishes details of the debt. It is noted that the bank has the deeds of Cullenswood House (home of St. Enda's School, which Pearse founded and ran) - "The bank regard these premises as practically valueless as security. A sale was attempted some time ago but proved abortive. The alterations made by Mr Pearse, to adapt the premises for a school, render them quite unsuitable as a dwelling".
Sun Life eventually - and possibly under pressure from the Bank, who would have been major brokers for the insurance company, or even exposure in the nationalist press for their niggardly behaviour over a patriot's death - to pay Hibernian Bank the "Sum Assured and Bonuses" but "not to allow any proceeds to benefit the Estate of the Life Assured". Thus Pearse's mother and family were not to receive a penny from Sun Life.
After some to-ing and fro-ing in an exchange of several letters Hibernian Bank agreed, on 26 June, to repay any surplus, after recalling other securities and guarantees (including one from Pearse's mother), directly back to Sun Life. On 30 June the Bank received £329.16s.4d in settlement of the policy. Here the correspondence ends a squalid dispute between two financial institutions over the estate of the dead patriot, who, before his death, was a valued customer of both.
€2,000-€3,000 (£1,667-£2,500 approx)

1921 (7 January) Pickardstown Ambush War of Independence Medal
1919-21 War of Independence Medal with Comrac bar officially named to "968 Michael McGrath". Also with a related War of Independence Medal issued to an unknown recipient and 1898 centenary Robert Emmet lithographic print. Both medals complete with ribbons, clasps, boxes of issue and presidential issuing slips. (3 items)

A scarce medal officially named to the first Waterford City man to be killed during the War of Independence. Michael McGrath was born at Poleberry Waterford on 1 December 1894, the youngest son of Thomas and Anne McGrath. He was educated at the Mount Sion School and became involved with the Sinn Féin movement after the 1916 Rising. During the 1918 elections McGrath canvassed for the party in Waterford city and moved to more militant activities in 1920, serving with D Company 4th Battalion East Waterford Brigade I.R.A. In January 1921 he was selected to take part in an ambush on British troops at Pickardstown near Tramore. A feint attack on Tramore police barracks was designed in order to draw a British relief force from Waterford where they would be attacked by members of the East and West Waterford Brigade. During the ambush on 7 January, McGrath was with a group of men armed with shotguns and positioned in a ditch on the road. During the ensuing fight this group was surrounded and McGrath killed. An inquest later stated that he was only identified by the Union membership cards that were found on his body and that he had suffered a severe wound to his head which caused instantaneous death. Michael McGrath's funeral took place on 10 January in Carbally Churchyard under the watch of a large British military presence. The spot on which he was killed is marked by a present day memorial to the ambush.

1923: Prison Ship Argenta collection including medals, autograph book and prisoner art

An extremely scarce collection of items relating to the internment ship H.M.S. Argenta awarded to and collected by John Patrick McBrien of County Fermanagh. Including Lough Derg (Prison Ship Argenta) medal. War of Independence medal in box of issue, with issuing slip and ribbon bar. Autograph book containing a total of 119 different verses and drawings with signatures and addresses, the first entry dated 2 January 1923, the last 4 April 1924. Four pieces of prisoner art including two bags with an accompanying letter from J. P. McBrien sent from the Internment Camp at Larne Workhouse to his family enclosing the bags. (8 items)

John Patrick McBrien was born in Fermanagh in 1896 the son of Patrick McBrien a farmer from Kinawley. He was one of almost 900 men and women who between 1922 and 1925 were detained under the 1922 Special Powers Act, many of whom posed no threat whatsoever. A unique archive and an excellent record of this period of internment in Northern Ireland which is often overlooked, summed up by one of the autograph book entries "When I am dead and all my bones are rotten, this little book will tell my name when I am quite forgotten."

During the 1920s, the Argenta, a former cargo vessel, condemned as unseaworthy, was used as a military base and prison ship for the internment without trial of suspected Irish Republicans by the British. By February 1923, under the 1922 Special Powers Act the British were detaining 263 men on the Argenta, which was moored in Belfast Lough. Conditions for those imprisoned on the ship were inhumane, as described by Denise Kleinrichert, in her book, Republican Internment and the Prison Ship "Argenta", 1922 (September 2000), Irish Academic Press Ltd.

1967-1998: The paramilitary archive of UVF leader Augustus Andrew (Gusty) Spence (1933-2011) including secret talks with both wings of the IRA in 1974

The nationally important collection of archival material gathered by 'Gusty' Spence during his life as one of the most important paramilitary leaders during The Troubles and later as a politician and supporter of the peace process. These documents cover a period of over 30 years and relate to his paramilitary career, organisation and discipline within the UVF, agreements with other loyalist paramilitary groups, his imprisonment and later moves to peaceful methods including an unpublished account of discussions with the Provisional I.R.A. in 1974.

2 letters from the Court of Criminal Appeal in Northern Ireland relating to the dismissal of Spence's appeal against his conviction. 4pp forming part of a petition on behalf of Spence with 93 names and addresses of those supporting his appeal. Documents relating to the appeal made by Louisa Spence against the reduction of her military pension benefits during the period that her husband was incarcerated. Letter sent to 'Gusty' in prison signed "...long live the spirit of Carson, long live our war..." by 25 family members on 12 July 1967 wishing him well on 'The Twelfth'. Another presentation letter sent to Spence on 'The Twelfth' 1968, described as the "278th Anniversary of the victory of William III over the forces of Popery and tyranny..." signed by 63 individuals many of whom are members of Spence's family. Contemporaneous copy of a letter from the Ministry of Home Affairs relating to pre-release parole. Letter from Lord Chief Justice Goddard relating to prisoner's television rights. "The Orange Cross" handbill dated January 1972 relating to fundraising for Loyalist prisoners.

Mother's Day card sent by Spence in 1972 from Belfast Jail with long manuscript note stating in part "... on this 'Mothering Sunday' I send you my sincere love and devotion... have no fear as we shall emerge victorious, triumphant and unconquered. No Surrender..." Official 2pp typescript copy of the UVF copy of the Ulster Volunteer Force, Red Hand Commando agreement made in July 1972 at Belfast in an attempt to align the two groups. Signed by Gusty Spence on behalf of the UVF and John McKeague of the RHC. Single page letter from the Bishop of Connor relating to prison conditions.

7pp account from the UVF on discussions held with the Provisional IRA in 1974. The memo claims that first contact was made in January of that year after a vote was made by the organisation's hierarchy to open talks. Journalists Kevin Myers and Vincent Browne were approached and the first encounter took place in a lodge at Lough Sheelin in Co Cavan which was guarded by IRA men with submachine guns. Ruairi Ó Brádaigh was notably absent from this meeting as he "could not elude his Special Branch 'tail'". The meeting was remarkably frank and both sides put forward their opinions with the UVF stating that the loyalist population would not accept a united Ireland, a consensus which they were obligated to respect. While Dáithí Ó Conaill explained the idea of the Éire Nua political strategy and raised the possibility of discussing a "peaceful co-existence" in Ulster in follow-up meetings. The account goes on to describe that next meeting which took place in McCabes Hotel, Mountnugent, County Cavan. The main emphasis of this meeting was on what could or could not be deemed as acceptable and legitimate targets in armed conflict. The UVF asked the IRA that "they should direct their bombs and bullets against the armed British forces, British civil servants and other agents of the Crown, and not against the Ulster businessman and worker." while Loyalists should "only direct their war materials against those who are determined to sell them out". Martin McGuinness who was present at the meeting is described as "o/c Derry Provisional IRA" and was challenged by the UVF who asked "what objectives he had in mind when he ordered the bombings of shops, bakeries and other small businesses in Derry". Opinions and remarks were exchanged on each point that was raised and remarkably the discussions went on to cover the possibility of joint paramilitary checkpoints to prevent sectarian assassinations on innocent individuals, joint intelligence liaison to combat the SAS and joint policy relating to attacks on public areas. Some agreements were made but further talks were prevented after the news of the meetings were leaked and the agreements were rejected by other members of the UVF. The document concludes with a poignant note that the talks "could have led to a better understanding and to a permanent ceasefire. There need not have been any loss of principle. But the super-Pros would not wear it..." There would be over 20 more years of bloodshed and violence before the Good Friday Agreement.

12 typescript orders and official UVF correspondence issued and signed by 'Gusty Spence' in Long Kesh to the members of the UVF. Official UDA letter from "to be read out to all UDA personnel; Long Kesh" announcing the appointment of William Sloan as camp Commanding Officer. Letter signed by Spence dated 20 September 1976 tendering his resignation as commanding officer of the UVF/RHC in Long Kesh "because I am tired of the in-fighting that goes on within the Loyalist ranks and because I am not prepared to be all things to all men...". Letter signed by Spence from Long Kesh to Alan Whitsitt reporter with the Belfast Newsletter "this communication is purely illegal of course and comes to you by a very unorthodox route.

UVF night guard report for Compound 21 at Long Kesh for the night of 9 and 10 October 1976. Typescript copy of the UVF and UDA personnel non-aggression pact in Long Kesh 2 information memos from the UVF to 'Gusty' Spence. Typescript copy of the lyrics to the song 'Fernando' by ABBA with manuscript not by Spence. Despair-To-Dignity, a 19pp booklet produced by the Prisoners Rights Union, made up of both Republican and UVF prisoners, in 1979. Letter signed by Frankie Curry recommending the court martial and dismissal of a prisoner from the RHC due to having "defected to the Prison Authorities". Letters from other leading politicians and personalities including Charlie Haughey, Sammy Wilson on behalf of Peter Robinson, Lord Blease and Cardinal Tomás Ó Fiaich. Official licence from the British Government releasing Spence from prison dated 13 December 1984 and signed by both Spence and the governor of the prison. Invites to the 1997 St. Patrick's Day reception at the Anglo-Irish Secretariat Maryfield for Gusty Spence and 1998 dinner at the State Apartments in Dublin Castle for Andrew Spence. British (Cyprus) passport issued to 'Gusty' Spence whilst a soldier.

1994 (13 October) Combined Loyalist Military Command ceasefire statement signed by 'Gusty' Spence

An important piece of historical ephemera. The printed statement read by Spence in October 1994 at Fernhill House announcing the cessation of hostilities by the Combined Loyalist Military Command (Ulster Defence Association, Ulster Volunteer Force and Red Hand Commandos) from midnight 13 October 1994. Possibly the most famous section of this speech is the compassionate apology which Spence extended "In all sincerity, we offer to the loved ones of all innocent victims over the past twenty five years, abject and true remorse. No amount of our words will compensate for the intolerable suffering they have undergone during conflict." Signed below "Augustus Andrew Spence". A pivotal moment in the peace process. 12 x 8.50in. In confidence

Mr. Stuart Spence
Progressive Unionist Party.

Dear Mr. Spence

I take this opportunity, through you, to thank your Party and its associates for the hospitality and restraint shown during the recent trying time.

Despite the provocation of the bombings in the Capital, I shall stand firm for the Union and shall not succumb to pressure from whatever source, of that, you can be assured.

Give my warm regards to the Leader of your Party, Mr. Hugh Gauchan M.P. and I believe, whom I met on several occasions whilst visiting the Province.

Keep up the good work.

Yours truly,
John Major

Combined Loyalist Military Command Statement

After receiving confirmation and guarantee in relation to Northern Ireland's constitutional position within the United Kingdom, as well as other assurances, the C.L.M.C. will universally cease all operational hostilities on or from 21 midnight on Thursday the 17th October 1964.

The duration of this cease-fire will be completely dependent upon the continued consent of all Nationalist/Republican violence.

In the genuine hope that this peace will be permanent, we take the opportunity to pay homage to all our Fighters, Commanders and Volunteers who have paid the supreme sacrifice. They did not die in vain. The UNION IS IAFK.

To our physically and mentally wounded who have served Ulster is unselfishly, we wish a speedy recovery and to the relatives of those men and women we pledge our continued moral and practical support.

To our Prisoners who have undergone as much deprivation and degradation with great courage and forbearance, we solemnly promise to have no trace returned to secure their freedom.

To our serving Officers, NCO's and men, we extend our eternal gratitude for their obedience to orders, for their loyalty, valiance and great honour in the most trying of circumstances and for their courage, fortitude and unshakable faith over the long years of armed confrontation.

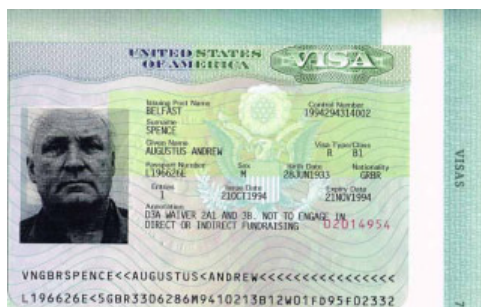

In all sincerity, we offer to the loved ones of all innocent victims over the past twenty five years, utmost and true remorse. No amount of our words will compensate for the intolerable suffering they have undergone during the conflict.

Let us firmly resolve to respect our differing views of freedom, culture and aspiration and never again permit our political contradictions to degenerate into bloody warfare.

We are on the threshold of a new and exciting beginning with our battles in future being political battles, fought on the side of honesty, decency and democracy against the negativity of mistrust, misrepresenting and misadventure is that, together, we can bring forth a new relationship in which our Children, and our Children, will know the meaning of true PEACE.

[This final draft of the Combined Loyalist Military Command ceasefire was finalised in this office on Wednesday 13th October 1964]

James Joyce, Ulysses signed first German edition number one in three volumes.

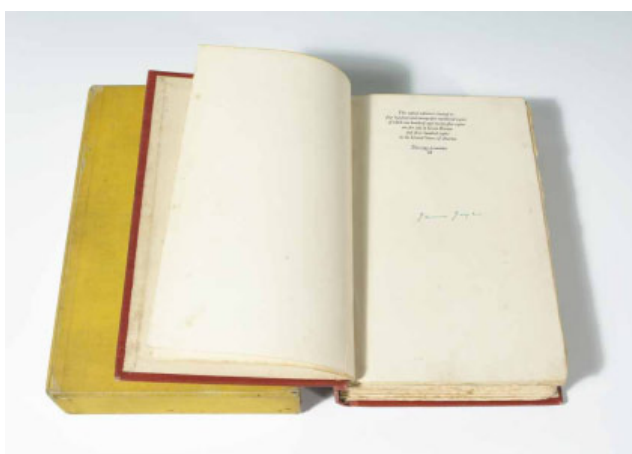

Basel: Rhein-Verlag, 1927, original half morocco over patterned paper boards.

Rhein-Verlag, Basel, 1927. The first edition in German, limited to 1,100 copies, of which the first 100 were signed by Joyce. This is number 1 of the 100 signed copies. The German edition was the first translation of Ulysses to be published. Rhein-Verlag held a competition to find a translator, finally selecting Georg Goyert, who subsequently worked with Joyce on the translation in Ostend during the summer of 1926. Joyce was pleased with the edition and the publication was a success, selling out in three weeks. Issued in three volumes, each octavo in quarter brown morocco over marbled boards; raised bands at spine with green calf gilt lettering labels; red cloth page markers; top edges gilt, some gatherings still uncut. Edges a little rubbed, corners bumped, upper hinge of Vol. I partially split, but an excellent set overall, and extremely rare with Joyce's signature. 8 x 6in. (20.32 x 15.24cm)

Provenance:

Library of Robert Bosch (with his inkstamp on front free endpapers); McInerney (bookplates on upper pastedown); Araby Books, New York; The Quentin Keynes Collection, Christie's, London, 8 April 2004, lot 722; Whence purchased by the present owner €8,000–€10,000 (£6,667–£8,333 approx)

James Joyce Finnegans Wake

signed limited edition Published simultaneously by Faber and Faber, London, and Viking Press, New York, 1939, in a special limited edition of 425 signed copies, of which this is no. 13. Tall octavo; original red cloth lettered and ruled in gilt at spine. Fore-edge untrimmed; top edge gilt. A very good copy of Joyce's most ambitious work, which aimed at being nothing less than a history of the world. 10.25 x 6.50in. (26.04 x 16.51cm)

Provenance:

James Joyce, Anna Livia Plurabelle

limited first edition of 50 copies New York: Princeton University Press for Crosby Gaige, 1928. Printed on light green paper watermarked 'Alexandra Japan Made in U.S.A.' Original black cloth gilt, spine lettered and decorated in gilt, boards with borders in blind, upper board with central gilt design, top edge gilt, others uncut.

Anna Livia Plurabelle. Preface by Padraic Colum. First edition, limited to 50 copies of which this is 6, on light green paper. Slocum and Cahoon note that: "Of these 50 copies [on light green paper] probably 6 were offered for sale by the publisher. These were numbered 1 to 6, with the following notice on p.[iv] in the handwriting of Crosby Gaige: This is one of 6 copies on green paper. Crosby Gaige: 'The remaining 44 copies were presumably given away by Crosby Gaige, with the exception of a few which were remaindered to the Chaucer Head Book Shop, New York, in 1938 by Random House.' However, this copy is simply numbered '6', and does not bear the publisher's statement on the limitation page. Very few of the 50 copies were numbered, and none were signed by Joyce. The precise reason Gaige printed a small edition on green paper is unknown. A clear possibility is that he offered the green paper copies as a limited edition to be sold at an inflated price. Joyce would be unaware of the edition as he was not asked to sign them and Gaige could retain all the proceeds for himself. Rare, only one copy is recorded at auction by ABPC since 1975. This fragment forms pages 532–554 of Finnegans Wake. 7 x 5in. (17.78 x 12.70cm)

James Joyce The Day of the Rabblement

Joyce's first published essay and only the second of any of his published works. A critique of the overt nationalism and perceived provincialism of the Irish Literary Theatre, Joyce's essay was originally commissioned by the editor of St Stephen's magazine, but subsequently rejected by the censor on account of its mentioning a novel by Gabriel D'annunzio, Il Fuoco (1900), which was banned by the Vatican.

Privately published by Joyce and F. J. C. Skeffington, whose similarly censored essay on women's education, 'A Forgotten Aspect of the University Question', is also contained herein. Joyce and Skeffington arranged for their essays to be printed together in pamphlet form by Gerrard Bros. The exact quantity printed is unknown. Skeffington's son believed it to be in the region of 100 to 200, but in A Catalogue of Rare Books published in 1933 by the Ulysses Bookshop, New York, it was stated definitely that only 85 copies were printed. Handsomely presented in a green cloth folding box with matching slipcase of half calf, lettered in gilt and with raised bands. 1982: James Joyce death mask by Victor McCaughan Bronzed plaster, signed with initials and dated on reverse; also inscribed on reverse "For Mike".

On the day of James Joyce's death in Zurich, 13 January 1941, his wife Nora gave consent to have a death mask made. Paul Speck was commissioned to make the cast, three of which were produced. Two of these examples are now held by the James Joyce Foundation in Zurich and the James Joyce Museum in Dublin. This particular portrait was cast following an extensive study of the original masks and photographs of Joyce by the artist. This resulted in the work bearing an extremely close resemblance to the original mask, with only minor differences. Also with an original booklet produced by McCaughan detailing his work including this mask.

James Joyce interest St. Stephen's, A Record of University Life, Dublin Vol Number I, nos 1-3 [of 7]. Original printed wrappers, the 3 issues contained in a later cloth box, gilt morocco lettering-piece. When the Irish Literary Theatre regressed, as Joyce perceived it, towards a more 'Irish' drama with productions of Douglas Hyde's Irish-language Casadh-an-tSugáin and Yeats and George Moore's Diarmuid and Grania, the young writer's violent reaction was 'The Day of the Rabbblement', fulminating that: 'The Irish Literary Theatre gave out that it was the champion of progress, and proclaimed war against commercialism and vulgarity [... but the devil of the popular will] has prevailed once more, and the Irish Literary Theatre must now be considered the property of the rabblement of the most belated race in Europe'. Joyce submitted his essay to Hugh Kennedy, an established adversary and the editor of St. Stephen's, who in turn consulted Father Henry Browne (the magazine's advisor); Browne rejected the essay because of a reference to D'Annunzio's Il Fuoco, which was listed in the Index librorum prohibitorum (list of publications prohibited by the Catholic Church). Concurrent with Joyce's troubles, his friend Sheehy-Skeffington was encountering similar obstacles in his efforts to publish his essay 'A Forgotten Aspect of the University Question'. Skeffington's essay proposed equal status for women at the university. Since both essays were rejected by St. Stephen's for different reasons, Joyce and Sheehy-Skeffington determined to publish them privately and the two pieces were yoked together and printed in an edition of 85 copies, prefaced by the statement 'These two essays were commissioned by the Editor of St. Stephen's for that paper, but were subsequently refused by the Censor'. 10.75 x 8in. (27.31 x 20.32cm)

1895-1898: The Clongownian. Volume 1, No. 1 to 6
Original wrappers bound into half leather, marbled boards. The first six issues of the school magazine of Clongowes Wood College, which Joyce attended between 1889 and 1891. His father, wanting to provide young Joyce with the best education he could afford, enrolled him at Clongowes, which was then regarded as the top preparatory school in Ireland. Joyce's experiences in the Jesuit educational system coloured his attitudes for the rest of his life. This volume of The Clongownian includes the story of Oliver St. John Gogarty's daring rescue of a drowning man in the river Liffey. Joyce would later incorporate that event into Ulysses, with Buck Mulligan performing the heroic act. 10 x 8in. (25.40 x 20.32cm)

1893: GAA All Ireland Football Championship Medal won by Wexford in extraordinary circumstances

Hallmarked gold medal awarded to Michael Curran of Young Irelands. Engraved "GAA. all Ireland Football Championship Won By Wexford 1893" to reverse and "M. Curran" in circular cartouche to obverse. The 1893 final was played in June 1894 between Young Irelands, Wexford and Dromtariffe of Cork. The final was without doubt was one of the most unusual in the history of the association. The match was arranged to be played at Ashtown near the Phoenix Park but the pitch was unplayable, described by the Wexford Independent at the time as "a graveyard overgrown with grass..." The crowd of approximately 2,000, which had come to see the game made their way to the polo pitch in the nearby Phoenix Park in hope that the game could take place there. The polo pitch, however, had no markings or goalposts that were suitable for a football match, but ingenuity triumphed and city drivers placed their jaunting cars at intervals around the pitch while the people in between the cars acted as the boundary lines. When the match finally did get underway the Young Irelands went into an early lead with the benefit of the hill. The second half saw Cork disallowed a goal and "a Cork man swooped down on Paddy Curran who was bending over the ball and gave him an open kick in the face which turned his left eye out of his head...". This led to a mass invasion of the pitch and after the Dublin referee did eventually restore order and asked the teams to replace their casualties, the Cork team refused to return to the pitch handing the title to Wexford with a winning score of 1-1 to 0-2. A hard-earned and scarce medal. For more information see The Wexford Hurling & Football Bible 1887-2008 by Dominic Williams. 1.25 x 1 in. (3.18 x 2.54cm)
