In confidence
Mr. Justy Spence
Progressive Unionist Party.
Dear Mr. Spence
I take this opportunity, through you, to thank your Party and its associated for the maturity and overcast shown during the recent trying time.
Despite the provocation of the bombings in the capital, I shall stand firm for the Union and shall not succumb to pressure from whatever source, of that, you can be assured.
Give my warm regards to the Leader of your Party, Mr. Hugh Smyth and Lord Mayor of Belfast, whom I met on several occasions whilst visiting the Province.
Keep up the good work.
Yours truly,
John Major
Prime Minister

Combined Loyalist Military Command
Belfast
After receiving confirmation and guarantees in relation to Northern Ireland's constitutional position within the United Kingdom, as well as other assurances, the C.L.M.C. will universally cease all operational hostilities as from 12 midnight on Thursday the 12th October 1994.
The duration of this cease-fire will be completely dependent upon the continued cessation of all Nationalist/Republican violence.
In the genuine hope that this seems will be permanent, we take the opportunity to pay homage to all our Fighters, Commanders and Volunteers who have paid the supreme sacrifice. They did not die in vain. THE UNION IS SAFE.
To our physically and mentally wounded who have served Ulster is unselfishly, we wish a speedy recovery and to the relatives of these men and women we pledge our continued moral and practical support.
To our Prisoners who have undergone so much degradation and deprivation with great courage and forbearance, we solemnly promise to have no stone unturned to secure their freedom.
To our serving Officers, NCO's and men, we extend our eternal gratitude for their adherence to order, for their integrity, resilience and good humour in the most trying of circumstances and for their ever-present fortitude and unshakable faith over the long years of armed confrontation.
In all decency, we offer to the loved ones of all innocent victims over the past twenty five years, abject and true remorse. No amount of our words will compensate for the irremediable suffering they have undergone during the conflict.
Let us firmly resolve to request our differing views of freedom, culture and aspiration and never again permit our political circumstances to degenerate into bloody warfare.
We are on the threshold of a new and exciting beginning with our battles in future being political battles, fought on the side of humanity, decency and democracy against the regrettably of misrule, misunderstanding and intolerance to that, together, we can bring forth a wholesome society in which our Children, and their Children, will know the meaning of true PEACE.
[This final draft of the Combined Loyalist Military Command ceasefire was finalised in this office on Wednesday 12th October 1994]

Dear Justy,
A brief note to thank you for your card and your kind wishes for the holiday season. It is a pleasure to hear from you and your colleagues in the PUP much success in the coming year as you continue your tireless work to maintain the peace in Northern Ireland and to seek a solution to the problems there.
Let me also how much I have enjoyed working with you and your colleagues during the past seven months, and how I look forward to continuing that work when I return to Belfast in the U.K.
My best wishes to you and Linda for 1995.
Sincerely,
John Major
