IMPORTANT NOTES

ALL LOTS ARE SOLD SUBJECT TO OUR TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF SALE PRINTED ON PAGE 7

BUYERS' COMMISSION

20.32% (25% including VAT) is added to the hammer price of all lots.

ROOM BIDDERS

1. Room bidders must register and obtain a bidding number on arrival. Proof of identity is required from clients new to us.
2. If successful in obtaining a lot please ensure you display your number clearly to the auctioneer and that it is your number that is called out. If there is any doubt about the hammer price or buyer, please draw this to the attention of the auctioneer immediately.
3. Payment may be made by cash, bank draft, cleared cheque, debit or credit card – we accept Mastercard or Visa (a charge of 2% is made on credit card transactions). There is no charge on debit card transactions.

LIVE INTERNET BIDDING

You can bid "live" at this auction on our website. With live audio and visual broadcast you can see and hear the auctioneer and bid at the click of a mouse from the comfort of your home or office or wherever you can log on to the world wide web. AND best of all Whyte's charge you nothing extra for this service! You can even get an iPhone app to bid live at Whyte's from your mobile phone. Details from our website, www.whytes.ie

ABSENTEE BIDDING

1. If you are unable to attend you may bid before the sale, using the form provided. Enter the maximum you are prepared to offer for each lot and the auctioneer will represent you as if you are personally attending the sale. Lots are knocked down at one step above the next highest bid, and not necessarily at your highest bid. Example: your bid is €1000 and next highest bid is €800 – the hammer price is €850.
2. LIMIT BIDDING: Absentee bidders may limit their total purchases to a set amount by entering their limit on the bidding form. This is especially useful for bidders wishing to cover as many lots as possible while setting a maximum amount to spend.
3. "OR" BIDDING: Absentee bidders who wish to bid on two or more lots, but only wish to purchase one, may do so by entering "OR" between the bids – the lots will be bid on in catalogue order.
4. EQUAL BIDS: In the event of equal bids being received for the same lot the first received will be given preference. If the instruction "break ties" is entered on the bid form the auctioneer will increase the bid by one step in the event of equal bids being received or in the event of a tie with a room bidder.

5. "BUY" BIDS: Unless otherwise instructed bids of "Buy" or "Buy at Best" shall be taken to indicate bids of up to three times the stated higher estimate in the catalogue.
6. INVOICING AND PAYMENT: Successful absentee bidders will be sent a pro forma invoice immediately after the sale with details of payment methods. All invoices must be paid within 7 days of the date of the sale or the lot(s) may be deemed in default and any subsequent losses incurred on resale become the responsibility of the bidder. The Auctioneers and House Agents Act, under which we are licensed to hold public auctions, only allows for lots to be handed over to purchasers when paid for in full.

TELEPHONE BIDDING

Subject to availability we can telephone clients during the sale. This facility is only available on lots with a lower estimate of €500 or more.

CONDITION OF LOTS

Note: The lots in this sale are old artefacts and documents and vary greatly in condition. They are therefore offered with all faults and buyers are strongly recommended to satisfy themselves as to condition by inspecting them beforehand. Please see Terms and Conditions on page 7.

SHIPPING / POSTAGE

We do not handle this ourselves but will recommend a suitable company who can collect your purchases on your behalf and pack and despatch them to you once they have been paid for.

PRICES REALISED

A complete list of prices realised and unsold lots will be sent automatically to all absentee bidders and will be posted to our Internet website (www.whytes.ie) on the day after the sale.

FIREARMS

All firearms offered in this sale are either antiques or deactivated.

EXPORT LICENCES

May be required for objects of archaeological interest or of national importance sold to buyers outside the State.

COLLECTION OF LOTS

Lots may be collected from our Molesworth Street premises up to 7pm on day of sale, otherwise Monday to Friday 10am to 5pm.

Purchasers must pay for and collect all lots within 7 days of the date of sale.

Any lots not collected within that time will be transferred to an offsite secure storage facility, incurring storage charges. Lots that have been transferred offsite may only be collected at two days notice once storage charges have been paid for in full.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF SALE NOTICE

Whyte & Sons Auctioneers Limited, trading as Whyte's, exercises all reasonable care to ensure that all descriptions are reliable and accurate, and that each item is genuine unless the contrary is indicated. However, the descriptions are not intended to be, are not and are not to be taken to be, statements of fact or representations of fact in relation to the lot. They are statements of the opinion of Whyte's, and attention is particularly drawn to clause 5 set out below. Comments and opinions, which may be found in or on lots as labels, notes, lists, catalogue prices, or any other means of expression, do not constitute part of lot descriptions and are not to be taken as such unless they are made or specifically verified by Whyte's.

Clause 1

- (a) Each lot is put up subject to any reserve price imposed by the vendor
- (b) Subject to sub-clause (a) of this clause, the highest bidder for each lot shall be the buyer thereof
- (c) If any dispute arises as to the highest bidder the auctioneer shall have absolute discretion to determine the dispute and may put up again and re-sell the lot in respect of which the dispute arises

Clause 2

- (a) The bidding and advances shall be regulated by and at the absolute discretion of the auctioneer and he shall have the right to refuse any bid or bids. NOTE: Where an agent bids, even on behalf of a disclosed client, the auctioneer nevertheless has the right at his discretion to refuse any such bid.
- (b) The buyer of each lot shall immediately on its sale, if required by the auctioneer, give him the name and address of the buyer and pay to Whyte's at his discretion the whole or part of the purchase money. If the buyer of any lot fails to comply with any such requirement Whyte's may put up again and re-sell the lot; if upon such re-sale a lower price is obtained than was obtained on the first sale the buyer in default on the first sale shall make good the difference in price and expenses of re-sale which shall become a debt due from him.
- (c) Where an agent purchases on behalf of an undisclosed client such agent shall be personally liable for payment of the purchase money to Whyte's and for safe delivery of the lot to the said client.

Clause 3

- (a) Whyte's reserves the rights to bid on behalf of clients including vendors, but shall not be liable for errors or omissions in executing instructions to bid.
- (b) Whyte's reserves the rights, before or during a sale, to group together lots belonging to the same vendor, to split up and to withdraw any lot or lots at Whyte's absolute discretion and without giving any reason in any case.
- (c) Whyte's acts as agent only, and therefore shall not be liable for any default of the buyer or vendor.

Clause 4

- (a) Each lot shall be at the buyer's risk from the fall of the hammer and shall be paid for in full before delivery and taken away at his expense within one day of the sale. The buyer will be responsible for all removal, storage and insurance charges in respect of any lot which has not been collected within one day of the date of sale.
- (b) If any buyer fails to pay in full for any lot within 14 days of the date of sale such lot may at any time thereafter at Whyte's discretion be put up for sale by auction again or sold privately; if upon such re-sale a lower price is obtained than was obtained on the first sale the buyer in default on the first sale shall make good the difference in price and the expenses of re-sale which shall become debt due from him.
- (c) Interest at 2 per cent per month and legal costs (if any) for recovery of monies due shall be payable by the buyer on any overdue account.

Clause 5

- (a) All lots are made available for inspection before each sale and each buyer, by making a bid, acknowledges that he has satisfied himself as to the physical condition, age and catalogue description of each lot (including but not restricted to whether the lot is damaged or has been repaired or restored).
- (b) All lots are sold with all faults and imperfections and errors of description and Whyte's and its employees, servants or agents shall not be responsible for any error of description or for the condition or authenticity of any lot, save for Clause 5 (c) below.

Written or verbal condition reports may be supplied by Whyte's on request but these are merely statements of opinion, and any error or omission in these reports may not be taken as grounds for a cancellation of sale or refund of any part of the purchase price or the cost of any repairs to the lot or lots reported on

- (c) If any lot sold at this auction is subsequently proved to be a "deliberate forgery", Whyte's will cancel the sale and refund to the buyer the total amount paid by the buyer for the item, in the currency of the original sale. The onus of proving a lot to be a "deliberate forgery" is on the buyer. For these purposes, "deliberate forgery" means a lot that in Whyte's reasonable opinion is an imitation created to deceive as to authorship, where the correct description of such authorship is not reflected by the description in the catalogue (taking into account any Glossary of Terms). No lot shall be considered a deliberate forgery by reason only of any damage and/or restoration and/or modification work of any kind (including repainting or overpainting). This guarantee does not apply if (i) either the catalogue description was in accordance with the generally accepted opinions of scholars and experts at the date of the sale, or the catalogue description indicated that there was a conflict of such opinions; (ii) or the only method of establishing at the date of the sale that the item was a counterfeit would have been by means of processes not then generally available or accepted, unreasonably expensive or impractical to use; or likely to have caused damage to the lot or likely (in Whyte's reasonable opinion) to have caused loss of value to the lot; or (iii) there has been no material loss in value of the lot from its value had it been in accordance with its description. This guarantee is provided for a period of seven (7) years after the date of the relevant auction, is solely for the benefit of the buyer and may not be transferred to any third party. Whyte's has discretion to extend the guarantee for a longer period. To be able to claim under this Guarantee, the buyer must (i) notify Whyte's in writing within three (3) weeks of receiving any information that causes the buyer to question the authenticity or attribution of the item, specifying the lot number, date of the auction at which it was purchased and the reasons why it is thought to be a deliberate forgery; and (ii) return the item to Whyte's in the same condition as the date of the sale to the buyer and be able to transfer good title in the item, free from the third party claims arising after the date of the sale. Whyte's has discretion to waive any of the above requirements. Whyte's may require the buyer to obtain at the buyer's cost the reports of two independent and recognised experts in the field, mutually acceptable to Whyte's and the buyer. Whyte's shall not be bound by any reports produced by the buyer, and reserves the right to seek additional expert advice at its own expense. In the event Whyte's decides to rescind the sale under this Guarantee, it may refund the buyer the reasonable costs of up to two mutually approved independent expert reports.

(d) Any lot listed as a "mixed lot, collection, range, portfolio etc." or stated to comprise or contain a collection or range of items which are not described shall be put up for sale not subject to rejection and shall be taken by the buyer with all (if any) faults, lack of genuineness and errors of description and numbers of items in the lot, and the buyer shall have no right to reject the lot; except that, notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this sub-clause, where before a sale a person intending to bid at the sale gives notice in writing to, and satisfies Whyte's that any such lot contains any item or items not described in the sale catalogue and that person specifically describes that item or those items in that notice, then that item or those items shall, as between Whyte's and that person, be taken to form part of the description of the lot.

Clause 6

The respective rights and obligations of the parties shall be governed and interpreted by Irish law, and the buyer hereby submits to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Irish Courts.

SPECIAL CONDITIONS

- (a) The buyer shall pay Whyte's a commission at the rate of 25% (including VAT under The Margin Scheme and which is not reclaimable).
- (b) Whyte's or its employees, servants or agents may, on request organise packing and shipping of lots purchased or may order on the buyer's behalf third parties to pack or ship purchases. Under no circumstances does Whyte's accept any liability whatsoever for any loss or damage howsoever occasioned in the course of such service.
- (c) The buyer authorises Whyte's to use any photographs or illustrations of any lot purchased for any or all purposes as Whyte's may require. The placing of a bid will be taken as full agreement to all the above conditions.

O'Connor, Roger. Chronicles of Eri; Being the History of the Gaol Scist Iber: Or, the Irish People.

London: Phillips, 1822. First Edition. Large 8vo. Half Black & Original Cloth. Good / No Jacket. 2 vols in one. Pp, cclxii, 509, adverts. Frontispiece & 4 folding maps at front of vol 1, folding hand coloured frontispiece, map & plate at front of vol 2. Library no. on lower spine. Cloth stained & worn, but good overall.

Roger O' Connor claimed to have translated the ancient Irish manuscripts in 1822, from "Original Manuscripts in the Phoenician Dialect of the Scythian Language". The contents are alleged to have been written by a Scythian chief called Eolus which detail the early history of Ireland, treating the Milesian occupation as told in Irish mythology as literal history. The Chronicles of Eri are widely now considered to be a literary fraud. O' Connor never revealed the ancient manuscripts he claimed to have translated and most believe they never existed. The archaeologist R. A. Stewart Macalister reviewed the work in 1941, calling it a clear fraud and its contents "cloud-cuckoo", comparing it to the Book of Mormon

Quincy Jr, Josiah. Observations on the Act of Parliament, Commonly Called the Boston Port Bill...

... with Thoughts on Civil society and Standing Armies. London: Boston, N. E. Printed. London: Reprinted for Edward and Charles Dilly, in the Poultry, 1774. First Edition. 8vo. Navy Blue Mo.. Good first English edition after the American ed. issued in the same year. Pages, [2], 80. Decorative gilt spine with black label. Title gilt. Corners and spine ends bumped and rubbed. Scuffed along cover & spine edges and at spine ends. Boards showing at bottom corner of rear cover. Interesting association copy with bookplates of Thomas Addis Emmet, with his signature, and the Marquis of Lansdowne. Overall good. Thomas Addis Emmet (1764-1827) was the second son of Robert Emmet, physician to the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and elder brother of Robert Emmet. He was an Irish American lawyer & politician, a member of the Irish revolutionary group The United Irishmen in the 1790s and Attorney General of New York State 1812-13. The Boston Port Bill was the British response to the Boston Tea Party of 1773. It was designed to secure Britain's jurisdiction over her American Dominions. The Port of Boston was effectively outlawed and blockaded by the Royal Navy. This resulted in economic & social hardship, leading to the American War of Independence (1775-1783). Josiah Quincy was a Boston patriot & lawyer. In this treatise he argued against the bill, but his efforts were unsuccessful. A scarce item with interesting associations.

1798-99 Rebellion: Letter from June Fraser daughter of Major James Fraser of the Fraser Fencibles

Dated 16 October 1799. Although addressed to Donald Davison, the letter starts "Dear Ann" and appears to be a "dear friend" of the writer. Content mainly concerns marriage arranged between a Colonel and a lady of great wealth, and the prospect of both June and Ann finding rich young men to marry, all reminiscent of a Jane Austen novel. Some mention of the Rebellion. It mentions her father printing proclamations offering the rebels a pardon if they surrendered but "the leaders will suffer at all events - there are double rewards offered for them". "I made many people laugh at the story of the officer who used to kill them by the dozen". A scarce letter from the daughter of an officer involved in "mopping up" exercises after the Rebellion. The Fraser Fencibles had been part of the British force defeated at the Battle of Castlebar by General Humbert.

4pp quarto, written both ways to save postage, sent as a Soldier's Letter and therefore rated one penny.

1801 (March 7): Irish General's letter home prior to the Battle of Aboukir

An extremely scarce handwritten 3pp letter dated 7 March 1801 and sent to Lady Charlotte Browne of Browne's Hill, Carlow by her husband Lieutenant Colonel (later General) Robert Browne. Sent from Aboukir Bay and written on the eve of the second battle of Aboukir and begins "Tomorrow morning at day light it is fully expected the weather will serve for our landing... It is sadly provoking that we should be here so long at anchor and in sight of every thing and not able to pursue our objective. I am arranged fully to have my horses in high order but my men added with those of the 26th Dragoons (600) which I am to command must move on foot as we could not procure horses for above 300. We expect very sharp work...." Content continues with more news of his force and mentions "Old Sir Ralph" Sir Ralph Abercromby who would be killed in the following days. A postscript note written during the battle completes the letter and states "Sunday morning at 2 o'clock the troops began to disembark. Major General Moore's division about 6,000 reached the shore... and though strongly opposed drove the enemy before them in every direction. The second division are now getting into the boats and we land with the third division immediately after."

1805 (2 March) Irish Legion fighting for France - a letter from Captain Thomas Markey

A revealing letter from Captain Thomas Markey, to Marshal Berthier, Minister of War, requesting that sailors who had seen too much were not exchanged stating "Some days back there arrived at the Legion a Mr. Russell Master of an Irish Brig taken by a privateer off St. Malo and the mate or Second Captain has been sent to Brest. These Irishmen are not content to remain in the situation allotted them and have I understand determined to go back to prison with the hope of being exchanged in the first cartel that may take place." Continuing that his worry is that these men have seen too much and that they might communicate to their countrymen information that might be injurious to an Irish expedition as the Irish Legion was "feeble and ineffective" for any such action at this point.

It records the daily orders and working parties (including "Black Pioneers", i.e. slaves) courts martial, medical duties, promotions and appointments, and all manner of minor instructions, such as the issue of a pint of wine to each soldier on the second anniversary of the Battle of Waterloo. Together with a 7pp. manuscript Return of the Men of the 83rd Regiment sent home from the Cape (with remarks on their character), signed by Lieutenant Colonel Jacob Brunt. A wealth of military detail is contained in this volume, building a full picture of the organisation of the Garrison. News from England, such as the death of Princess Charlotte in childbirth, is announced to troops. In July 1817 a soldier of the 60th Regiment is sentenced to twelve months solitary confinement on bread and water, convicted of more than "one horrid and unnatural crime" on the persons of fellow soldiers on the voyage to the Cape. Another private soldier of the 60th is arraigned "for unsoldierlike infamous, unmanly and bestial conduct in having attempted to commit an unnatural crime on the body of a goat". He is sentenced to "one thousand lashes with a cat o' nine tails on the bare back and breech in such a manner as His Excellency the Commander of the forces may think proper to direct". Among the places mentioned are Robins Island, Grahams Town, St. Helena, Simonstown, Tristan da Cunha. Many Irish names included: Private Connachton charged with murder; Pte. J. McCormick sentenced to 200 lashes; Pte. Toal sentenced to 12 months solitary confinement on bread and water; Pte. Massey. 18 months. A fascinating original official account of life in the Army during the earlier 19th century.

1866: Fenian Bond Irish Republic Five Dollars signed John O'Mahony.

Recess printed by Continental Bank Note Co., New York. With names of counties in the border, issued 17 March 1866, signed by Sullivan and O'Mahony. The latter, John O'Mahony, born 1816, near Mitchelstown, County Cork, died Feb. 6, 1877, was an Irish nationalist leader. On the run from the British since the abortive 1848 Insurrection, he escaped to New York in 1853, where he co-founded with James Stephens and led (1858 - 66) the Fenian Brotherhood. By 1865 the American Fenian group had become large and prosperous and was sending money and arms to Ireland. O'Mahony reluctantly backed the Irish Fenians' decision to stage military raids in Canada against the British, part of a scheme to hold Canada hostage for the cause of Irish freedom. The raids failed - as did the 1867 Rising in Ireland, and he resigned, but he was later called out of retirement in 1872 and continued to work for Irish independence until his death in 1877. 3½ x 8in. (8 x 20cm)

circa 1870: Irish Protestant Benevolent Society Medal

White metal stamped medal. The St. Patrick's Society of Montreal was founded on March 17, 1834 to care for Irish immigrants and to defend the local Irish-Canadian community's interests. The society was non-sectarian until 1856 when the Protestant members split and formed the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society. A possible catalyst to the break was a riot in 1853, in which Protestants and Catholics clashed in Montreal. The St. Patrick's Society is today a charitable, social, and educational organisation. The Society had a prominent role in the building of St. Patrick's Church (now Basilica) which opened in 1847, and in the creation of the Cote des Neiges Cemetery, which opened in 1885. The Society was also the organiser of the St. Patrick's Day Parade until 1916.

19th Century Flag: Green Ensign. A flag used by some Irish Merchant Shipping

There is evidence that the Green Ensign, although never officially approved, had been used by some Irish ships since the 17th Century. The early versions use the emblem of the Irish Revenue - a "Mermaid" Harp surmounted by a crown in gold. However the background should have been St. Patrick's Blue rather than emerald green according to the authorities. In the 1830s The Western Yacht Club used the Green Ensign for a while. In some cases Irish vessels had this flag confiscated by authorities in harbours in Britain, Ireland and the West Indies according to some records. In 1872, the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, in reply to the Admiralty, declared the use of the Green Ensign to be incorrect, and in support attached a well researched paper by Sir J. Barnard-Burke, Ulster King of Arms, supporting the choice of blue as the National Colour of Ireland. Thus the Harp is shewn as gold on blue in the Royal Standard, and indeed since the 1930s the same is the Standard of the President of the Republic of Ireland. A scarce and interesting flag. 45 x 82in. (114 x 208cm)

Hamilton, Edwin (Ed.), "PAT" [Irish Periodical] Vol. 1. No. 1 - 26 & Vol. 2. No. 1- 51. 15th January, 1881 - 31st December, 1882

(77 issues). ill. John Fergus O'Hea. Dublin: Swan, 1881. 4to. Hard Cover. Good 77 issues bound in one vol. Colour & black & white illustrations. Covers worn and stained. Internally very good. Rare. Pat was an Irish weekly satirical journal published in Dublin by W. P. Swan, beginning in December 1879. It was founded by cartoonist John Fergus O'Hea and writer Edwin Hamilton, who had previously worked on Zozimus and Ireland's Eye. Pat's political sympathies were for Home Rule, although it also featured apolitical material. The character of Pat, the honest Irishman represented as a handsome, good-natured tenant farmer, would appear in cartoons by O'Hea and others in other publications. Pat temporarily stopped publishing in September 1880, but resumed publication in January 1881, with cartoonist Thomas Fitzpatrick joining O'Hea on the title. It finally folded in March 1883, after which Hamilton founded the short-lived magazine The Irish Diamond.

James MacDonald oil painting: Britannic at Sail

HMHS Britannic was the third and largest Olympic-class ocean liner of the White Star Line. She was the sister ship of RMS Olympic and RMS Titanic, and was intended to enter service as a transatlantic passenger liner. She was launched just before the start of the First World War and was laid up at her builders in Belfast for many months before being put to use as a hospital ship in 1915. She was shaken by an explosion, caused by an underwater mine, in the Kea Channel off the Greek island of Kea on the morning of 21 November 1916, and sank with the loss of 30 lives.

1907-11: Sinn Féin National Council Cork Branch minute book
Minutes of general and executive meetings, each entry signed by the chairman. Circa 130 pages of minutes, with over 30 letters loosely inserted, worn, 4to, covering 12 July 1907 to 22 March 1911. The minutes provide extensive information on proposals, discussions and resolutions made at meetings of the influential Cork Branch of Sinn Féin relating to matters as fund raising, Nationalist publications and propaganda, municipal elections, Irish emigration, Irish industry, commercial relations between Ireland and England, Sinn Féin representation at other meetings and demonstrations, the questions of soldiers being permitted to use Technical Schools and of Irish telegraph messengers being inveigled into the British Army, the speaking of Irish, the analogy of "the Resurrection of Hungary", the rebelliousness of "the coming young men" and many other subjects. Among other things, the Dublin International Exhibition in 1907 is condemned as "the means of pushing the sale of foreign manufacture in Ireland" and the Daily Graphic is denied to the Manchester Martyrs Demonstration Committee since "Sinn Féin...would not consent to participate in any political movement which recognised British Authority". Homage is paid to the memory of various patriots, including the Gaelic scholar Charles O'Connell, but it is recalled that "even Parnell failed to manage the affairs of the country under Imperial Parliament". In extensive discussion in 1911 on the structure, possible branch reorganisation and future of Sinn Féin, the aims of the movement -to educate the people in Ireland's history and language and secure her self-reliance and total independence-are reiterated and members are reminded that "That there is no organisation in Ireland [that] had done as much in its time to uplift the country".
Letters received by the branch and kept with the minute book are from recipients of letters of sympathy on bereavements, from other branches of Sinn Féin, including the Sinn Féin League in Glasgow, and from such bodies as the Cork Industrial Development Association, the Celtic Literary Society and the Macroom Football Club. Occasional dissenting voices are heard: for instance, a namesake of John O'Leary writes in August 1907 expressing his accord with the aims of the movement without being "a believer in its methods", while G. B. O'Connor expresses qualified support for the constitution of the society ("...I consider several [clause] are of a nature with which every Irishman should or ought to agree, others are impracticable not to say illegal..").

1913 Lockout - Collection of letters and ephemera including Archbishop Walsh and William Martin Murphy Letters
A collection of 1913 Lockout interest letters and correspondence including Archbishop William Walsh handwritten letter on 'Archbishop's House' headed paper dated 24 October 1913 noting that "... I am terribly overrun with correspondence about help for the poor children (as to which I am organising a special committee and fund) and also with work of various kinds for the settlement of the big strike. As to this letter I think I am in sight of land at last. See two letters of mine in the 4 papers tomorrow - one (for a very special reason in the Irish Times..." The letter to which Walsh refers was a strongly worded attack on 'Catholic mothers of Dublin' who might attempt to send their children to London for temporary accommodation with trade unionists. Also with another letter from Walsh dated 21 October 1914, a Loyal Tramwaymen's Fund letter dated February 1914 relating to the winding up of the fund and details of accounts, a typescript letter signed by William Martin Murphy dated October 1914, and other correspondence including a personal letter dated November 1913 sent from Birkenhead stating "...Is the strike settled yet? I have heard such news about poor Dublin for the last two months. I heard a few days ago however that Larkin's sun has set. I hope it is true..." (10 items)

flysheet.

Dublin Fergus O'Connor n. d. (1915) single sheet 195 x 250mm original flysheet printed on one side only. Jeremiah O' Donovan Rossa was one of the founders of the Irish Republican Brotherhood. He spent a number of terms in prison before being exiled to America, from where he continued to direct Fenian activities. His death in 1915 gave the IRB a propaganda opportunity by bringing his body back to Ireland for a large public funeral in Glasnevin cemetery. This oration delivered at the graveside by Patrick Pearse is considered to be a "masterpiece of patriotic rhetoric", containing as it does the iconic ending "— but the fools, the fools, the fools! They have left us our Fenian dead, and while Ireland holds these graves, Ireland unfree shall never be at peace." It has been argued that this funeral, with its prominent involvement of the Irish Volunteers, starts the countdown to the 1916 Rising and is a foretaste of Pearse's Proclamation of the Irish Republic. A very good copy of this fragile and historically important piece of Irish Nationalist ephemera.

Pádraig Pearse - Three Lectures on Gaelic Topics

Dublin, M. H. Gill and Son, 1898 60pp. Illustrated with head and tail pieces, and decorative initials. 195 x 120mm. Original wine coloured cloth with gilt lettering to front cover. Patrick (Pádraig) Henry Pearse was 18 years old when he published this, his first book. This copy belonged to Michael Staines, with his signature on the title page. Michael Joseph Staines (1888-1955). A member of the Gaelic League, he joined the Irish Volunteers in 1913 and through membership of this organisation, and the IRB, he became close to Patrick Pearse. In the lead up to the 1916 Rising he was appointed national quartermaster and fought in the GPO alongside Pearse, being one of stretcher bearers who evacuated James Connolly from the premises. Imprisoned in Frongoch, he became Commandant of South Camp and developed a trusted relationship with Michael Collins. He was the first Garda Commissioner. Very Good.

Thomas MacDonagh signed copy of his book Through The Ivory Gate
A Book of Verse

1902, Dublin. Original green cloth gilt, pp112. MacDonagh's first book of poetry inscribed on page 111 "To my dear friend Father Byrne C.S.Sp." and signed "Thomas MacDonagh". Father Byrne taught MacDonagh at Rockwell College, Co. Tipperary and encouraged him to write poetry. Thomas MacDonagh (Irish: Tomás Mac Donnchadha; 1 February 1878 – 3 May 1916) was an Irish political activist, poet, playwright, educationalist and revolutionary leader. He was one of the seven leaders of the Easter Rising of 1916, a signatory of the Proclamation of the Irish Republic and Commandant of the 2nd Battalion, Dublin Brigade of the Irish Volunteers, which was based at Jacob's factory. He was executed for his part in the Rising at the age of thirty-eight.

MacDonagh became a teacher at St. Enda's School and was later a lecturer at University College Dublin. He was a member of the Gaelic League, where he befriended Patrick Pearse and Eoin MacNeill. He was a founding member of the Irish Volunteers with MacNeill and Pearse. He was an accomplished writer of poetry and plays.

1916 (24 March) A very important letter from the commander of the Officer Training Corps of the Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland
On headed paper of the RCSI OTC, Lieutenant FJ Power writes to Major GA Harris regarding information received concerning a possible raid on the armoury of the RCSI OTC. In fact the College was taken by the Citizen Army 4 weeks after this letter. Power refers to overheard remarks from "one of the College porters, who is a member of Larkin's Union" and "anyone ...requiring information as to the position [of the OTC weapons] could easily obtain it from the students... amongst whom we have some rank outsiders... and men of doubtful loyalty." Even in the OTC Power says "we have men I would not trust in these matters". A draft reply by Major Harris is on reverse, approving of placing an overnight guard on the OTC stores. Foolscape, manuscript. The heightening of security at the OTC's helped them secure College Green, and surrounding streets and cut off the Citizen Army in Stephen's Green from other units of the Rising. It also aided the safe arrival of the army reinforcements from Kingstown to the city centre. An important document.

1916 Rising: an eyewitness account by a Unionist in the leafy suburb of Ballsbridge and his fascinating archive 1878-1920
The diaries, complete 1878-1920, and some correspondence to his daughter and related letters of Sir Alfred Irwin, Companion of the Star of India. The diaries relate at first to his service in India, and then to his retirement in Dublin. Overall this is a primary source for research into an Anglo-Irish servant of the British Empire and his attitude to the world around him. His handwritten letter of 25 April to 4th May 1916 (pp44) starts "At 4.20 yesterday afternoon Aunt Emily telephoned that the Sinn Féiners had risen & were shooting in Dublin. They missed Uncle Charlie by an inch & she was not sure if that particular shot was fired by Countess Markievitch [sic], but at any rate the Countess was in the thick of it...The rebels had got the G.P.O... 3 policemen and 2 children were killed... the Sinn Féiners took some milk from [the milkboy]". He then goes on to give his account of the Rising through his own experiences and those of "Aunt Emily", the servants in his house, the messenger boys, jarveys and others who visit him. A fascinating and sometimes amusing account by a "Colonel Blimp" type of character, well worthy of publication. A postcard dated 2 May 1916 gives a very brief account, while later letters refer to people seeking shelter and food "probably looted" being sold door to door. There are 30 letters, pp2 to 6pp each, to his daughter, Dorothy, in India, also letters from his son, Alfred, who commanded a battalion of the East Surrey regiment in World War I and in 1919 on the abortive British support of the white Russians in Murmansk, including a detailed letter on the latter adventure. There are also letters from Kathleen, another daughter. Sir Alfred Irwin (1853-1920) was the son of the Archdeacon of Elphin, educated at Kingstown School, entered the Indian Civil Service in 1876. in the Punjab, later transferring to Burma and rose to be Active Chief Judge of Burma by 1908, retiring in 1909 to Dublin. He was married to Alice Kathleen French, daughter of Christopher French. His son Alfred was awarded the DSO with two bars. His daughters were Dorothy and Kathleen. (30 letters and 41 Lett's Diaries).

Macready, Nevil, Annals of an Active Life

London: Hutchinson, 1924. First Edition. Royal 8vo. Original cloth. 2 vols: Pp. (1) 336; (2) 337-694. Both illustrated with photographs. Spines faded. Corners and spine ends bumped & rubbed. Else good. General Sir Cecil Frederick Nevil Macready, 1st Baronet, GCMG, KCB, PC (Ire) (7 May 1862-9 January 1946), known as Sir Nevil Macready served in senior staff appointments in the First World War, was the last British military commander in Ireland, and served for two years as Commissioner of Metropolitan Police, London. In April 1920, Macready was sent to command the troops in Ireland as General Officer Commanding-in-Chief (GOC-in-C) British forces in the War of Independence (alongside Hamar Greenwood as Chief Secretary). He had already written to Ian Macpherson on the latter's appointment as Chief Secretary of Ireland in January 1919: "I cannot say I envy you for I loathe the country you are going to and its people with a depth deeper than the sea and more violent than that which I feel against the Boche". Following the Anglo-Irish Treaty and creation of the Irish Free State in 1922, he withdrew the troops without great incident. He retired in 1923 and was created a baronet.

Éamon de Valera doll by Lillian ('Lily') Et Frances Whelan

A handmade doll with miniature chair and table. Frances and Lily Whelan were the elder sisters of artist Leo Whelan and lived with him at the family home (which doubled as a hotel) at 65 Eccles Street, Dublin. The Whelan sisters were artists in their own right and designed, among other items, dolls, puppets, miniature costumes, cushions, quilting, fire-screens, table lamps, shades and mirrors. Their craftwork was the subject of a very well received exhibition at the United Arts Club, 3 Upper Fitzwilliam St., Dublin in June 1958 where, among the items shown, was the Éamon de Valera doll offered in this lot. The show's success is recorded in newspaper cuttings and was described as an outstanding exhibition of really fine craftsmanship" (Evening Main, 28 June 1958) and "A delightful exhibition of works" (Irish Independent, 28 June 1958). See lots 374-377 for other dolls by the Whelan sisters.

1921: Signatory to The Treaty: Robert Barton letter

Robert Childers Barton (March 1881-1975), an officer in The Royal Dublin Fusiliers, was stationed in Dublin during the 1916 Easter Rising and resigned in protest at the heavy-handed government suppression of the revolt and joined the republican movement.

At the 1918 general election he was elected as Sinn Féin member for West Wicklow. He was appointed Minister for Agriculture in Dáil Éireann, later of Economic Affairs. Barton was one of the delegates, along with his cousin Erskine Childers, to travel to London for the Treaty negotiations. He reluctantly signed the Treaty on 6 December 1921, defending it "as the lesser of two outrages forced upon me and between which I had to choose." He nevertheless was firmly committed to the Irish Republic and despite signing the Treaty rejected it. This letter "to my dear Hamilton" concerns an appointment of a judge - "there are not many who jeopardised their future by giving judgement on a National issue adverse to the Cosgrave party's standpoint at a time when the dice appeared to be loaded in Cosgrave's favour".

1922. Payment for Michael Collins' aeroplane

1922 (12 June) Dáil Éireann cheque to Charles Russell, Director of Civil Aviation for £82.14s.2d signed by General Richard Mulcahy, Chief of Staff of the Provisional Government Army. This was to cover the provision of an aeroplane. During the Anglo-Irish Treaty talks of 1921, a Martinsyde Type A Mark II biplane was purchased and put on 24-hour standby at Croydon Airport to allow Michael Collins to escape back to Ireland if the talks failed. The plane was not needed for this mission, and it became the first aircraft of the new National Army Air Service arriving in June 1922. A unique document relating to the talks.

Much interesting material relating to organisation, training, police raids, support of prisoners, fund raising, agreements with other Republican organisations, and suggested amalgamation with the IRA. Also a number of printed items including Cumann na mBan Constitution, "Six County Elections", also some letters, including a passionaye letter of resignation from a member "since 1917", correspondence relating to the Betsy Gray Cumann in Belfast, list of members and addresses etc. An important primary source on the workings of Cumann na mBan in the turbulent mid 1930s. Cloth bound, quarto, pp150 of which 100 approx. are filled. (16 items)
Eithne Coyle O'Donnell (1897-1985) joined Cumann na mBan in 1917 and became active in fundraising, anti-conscription campaigns and the 1918 general election campaign for Sinn Féin. She was active in assisting the IRA in Longford and Roscommon in 1919-21 and was arrested and sentenced to 3 years prison in 1921, but escaped from Mountjoy in October 1921. She supported the Anti-Treaty forces in the Civil War, was arrested several times and released but was finally, in September 1922, imprisoned in Ballyshannon, where she was the first to go on hunger strike and later moved to Mountjoy, where she joined the other women prisoners there in hunger strikes and protests. She escaped in 1923 but was rearrested, and eventually released in 1924. Coyle was elected as President of Cumann na mBan in 1926, a post she held until her resignation in 1941. She married Bernard O'Donnell, a Donegal IRA man, in 1935.

St. George Hare RI ROI (1857-1933) oil painting of Princesses Madeleine and Olga Von Dembinska, Pretenders to the Polish Throne
The subjects of this double portrait were Polish sisters of the von Dembinski family who claimed direct lineage from King Canute and therefore a connection to the English Royal Family. Through the death of a co-lineal relative they purportedly inherited their titles and claim to the Polish throne (since beyond reclaim) and a large area of land in Poland which they believed was being denied to them by a French syndicate. They lived in Barrowgate Road, Westminster in London where they came into contact with a physicist John Fredrick Heard who rented accommodation from the family and recorded his time in their company in 1976.¹ In 2009 the Princesses' story became the subject of a television series, Heir Hunters, which endeavoured to seek out the rightful heirs to their unclaimed estate.

1932 GENERAL ELECTION

A unique collection of Cumann na nGaedheal Posters

Lots 334 to 360 are official election posters, fliers and pamphlets issued by Cumann na nGaedheal, which governed the Irish Free State from 1922 under the leadership of William T. Cosgrave. Fianna Fáil won the 1932 election under Éamon de Valera's leadership and remained in power until 1948. In 1933 Cumann na nGaedheal joined some smaller political groupings to form Fine Gael. Most of these posters are scarce and many are rare – most of them cannot be found in the national collections.

Provenance for lots 334-360:

Frank Brandt, who designed most of the posters here;
Thence to his friend, the present owner
Frank Brandt's wife, Muriel, and daughter, Ruth, were well known artists.

PEOPLE OF CARLOW-KILKENNY

Mr. Desmond Fitzgerald has been asked by President Cosgrave to stand for your Constituency.

He has taken an active part in Irish Public Life since 1914. He was one of the first to join The Irish Volunteers and he fought in the Easter Rising. From 1919 to 1922 he directed the Publicity Campaign, which was, in a large measure, responsible for the cessation of hostilities and the settlement of our agonizing struggle.

Since 1922 he has been a Minister of Saorstát Eireann and has represented his country at Geneva, London and in U.S.A.

He is a worthy representative for the President's old Constituency.

SUPPORT PRESIDENT COSGRAVE

1939-46 Emergency Mercantile Marine Medal with three bars - rare special issue for SS Ardmore crew

This issue, apparently from a cast of an original medal, is gilded. It was ordered by the Minister of Defence in 1998 to be awarded to the families of crew of the SS Ardmore. SS Ardmore, which was carrying cattle and agricultural produce from Cork to Fishguard in Wales, was reported missing in heavy seas on 13 November 1940. The crew comprised twenty sailors and five cattlemen. Two bodies were washed up on the Welsh coast in November 1940. It was only in 1998 that divers located the wreck off the Saltee Islands and confirmed that the ship had been sunk by a mine. This medal was awarded to the family of James Power, and is accompanied by a manuscript account of the SS Ardmore written by a relation of James Power, memorial service booklets, a video "S.S. Ardmore - The Final Chapter" and a bronze maquette of the memorial plaque erected in Cork Docklands, as well as extensive notes on the ship and its crew, including copies of relevant documents and correspondence.

Lillian ('Lily') & Frances Whelan - Kerry Cottage Kitchen Diorama

A wonderful collection of handmade dolls in a traditional Kerry kitchen setting, comprising five figures, two chairs and a dresser filled with crockery. Frances and Lily Whelan were the elder sisters of artist Leo Whelan and lived with him at the family home (which doubled as a hotel) at 65 Eccles Street, Dublin. The Whelan sisters were artists in their own right and designed among other items; dolls, puppets, miniature costumes, cushions, quilting, fire-screens, table lamps, shades and mirrors. Their craftwork was the subject of a very well received exhibition at the United Arts Club, 3 Upper Fitzwilliam St., Dublin in June 1958 where among the items shown was this collection. The show's success is recorded in newspaper cuttings and was described as an outstanding exhibition of really fine craftsmanship" (Evening Main, 28 June 1958) and "A delightful exhibition of works" (Irish Independent, 28 June 1958). Архитектурные чертежи Санкт-Петербурга середины XVIII века = St Petersburg in the middle of the 18th century: architectural drawings

Facsimile reproduction of a manuscript collection of Russian architectural drawings originally created at the end of the 1740's. St. Petersburg, the capital of eighteenth-century Russia, was founded in 1703. The buildings of the new capital attracted great attention and significant collections of architectural drawings exist in Stockholm and Vienna. This collection was recently discovered by Dr Edward McParland in the library of Trinity College Dublin under the title: A Collection of Russian Architectural Drawings. They consist of 33 splendid drawings showing the Winter Palace of Empress Anna Ioannovna, her wooden Summer Palace, the Anichkov and Peterhof palaces, the Alexander Nevsky and Smolny monasteries as well as other important churches in St. Petersburg. Of particular interest are the detailed plans of the three summer gardens, the Anichkov garden and the parks of Peterhof.

Description: 33 colour drawings, a manuscript list and several loose sheets of explanatory text, 4pp of introduction. Loose-leaf volume in case ([1], 19, XXXIX leaves) : colour illustrations, map, architectural drawings, facsimile reprints ; in a handmade box 49 x 35 x 6cm. Russian text translated by Larissa Salmina-Haskell, English version edited by Edward McParland. Photography by Davison & Assoc., Dublin.

Dowling, J. N. Gran'dames and Grandmamas Birmingham:

1900. 4to. Soft Covers. Good Unpaginated 26pp typescript selected by the author from "the larger collection....as being of especial interest to his kinsman F.N. Butler...." The author has signed this statement. The text consists of two sections the first on the life of Elizabeth(?) Sheridan (1618-16-) Et the second on the life of Catherine Burrows (1771-1846). The former tells of a "true romance" connected with the Irish Rebellion of 1641. Catherine Burrows was born in 1771 in England. After her father's death in 1773 she was taken by her mother to Dublin where she spent the greater part of her life. An unpublished work Et a fascinating glimpse of Butler, Brooke Et Dowling family history. While the author refers to a larger piece of work we have found no record of anything published. A rare Et indeed possibly unique item

Joyce, James. Dubliners. First edition 1914

Grant Richards London, 1914. Octavo, original red cloth, gilt. No dustjacket. Spine sunned, front and back covers stained, interior very good. Dubliners must surely have one of most protracted publication histories of any book. Grant Richards first accepted it in February 1906, but shortly afterwards changed his mind. The manuscript then passed to Elkin Mathews, John Long and Maunsel, before John Falconer of Dublin accepted it in 1910. In July that year 1,000 copies were printed, only for the entire edition to be immediately destroyed, most probably at the behest of the Dublin Castle censors. Joyce engaged in a voluminous correspondence lobbying various publishers and even wrote an account of his woes in an article titled 'A Curious History'. In one of his many letters of protest sent to Grant Richards in 1906, he declared "I seriously believe that you will retard the course of civilisation in Ireland by preventing the Irish people from having one good look at themselves in my nicely polished looking glass" (quoted in Slocombe and Cahoon, p. 13). Richards eventually accepted the manuscript in 1914 on the grounds that no royalties were to be paid on the first 500 copies and that Joyce guaranteed to purchase 120 copies. Only 746 copies were bound, of which this is one. A presentable example of this desirable book.

1962 (18 January) Brian O'Nolan (Flann O'Briain, Myles na gCopaleen) letter to JB Kilfeather
Typescript. From O'Nolan's home at 21 Watersland Road, Stillorgan, Co. Dublin to the writer and critic, JB Kilfeather, at "Seancoduff", 140 Stockman's Lane, Belfast. "I was very glad to hear you liked THE HARD LIFE. I wrote it in two months dead (-me dead).....an enormous sale here, and nearly all reviews throughout Britain were favourable.....a very RC monthly here named HIBERNIA.....was amused to see in it.....an extended notice of the book, with frequent mention of Father Kurt Fahrt, S.J. It is being published in the U.S. immediately. I note what you say about other pieces of mine. I have several plans for the future but the immediate one is a new book. It's in my head intact and there is no problem beyond getting it on paper; not difficult, but tedious." Signed in ink Brian Nolan with the initials M. na G. ("Myles na gCopaleen) typed underneath. This letter shows the author in good form & his humour is to the fore as is his apparent hurry to write another book. The book he "has in my head" was to become the Dalkey Archive. However his work on this was to be delayed due to illness and work on a television series. It was eventually published in 1964. A scarce example of a letter from this comic genius, and even rarer, an example of him in good humour 10 x 8in. (25 x 20cm)

Stoker, Bram. Dracula. First Edition, first printing, with author signed dedication inserted and another author signed note.
Archibald Constable and Company, Westminster, 1897. First Edition. The true first printing, being on thicker paper [the sheets bulking a little over an inch], with the pages untrimmed, and with the final leaf [pp. 391/392] blank [i.e. WITHOUT the ad for the Shoulder of Shasta]. Richard Dalby, in his 1983 bibliography of Stoker, states that "later issues of the first edition carry an advertisement for The Shoulder of Shasta on the rear flyleaf [392]" and that the "publishers cannot confirm any other points regarding status of the first issue, nor the exact publishing date." This copy also has an eight-page terminal catalogue beginning with an advertisement for The Amazing Marriage by George Meredith, ending with one for The Whitehall Shakespeare, and carrying no mention of Dracula. Loosely inserted a note "John Garford from Bram Stokers, 9.11.09" and a note dated 1895 on Lyceum Theatre paper to CW Heverard concerning the music of King Arthur, both in Stoker's hand. Original yellow cloth with title in red, cover soiled, spine sunned and worn at top and bottom, edges of covers worn away in parts, interior light overall toning, possibly tropicalised, but overall a sound copy of this extremely rare first printing of the first edition. Housed in a recent yellow cloth clamshell box. (3)

[Kahlert, Karl Friedrich.]. The Necromancer, a German story : or Tale of the Black Forest. Rare Irish edition of this Gothic horror story and forerunner to Dracula.
[Kahlert, Karl Friedrich.]. The Necromancer, a German story: or Tale of the Black Forest: founded on facts. Translated from the German of Lawrence Flammenberg. By Peter Teuthold. Printed by Brett Smith, Dublin 1795. First Irish edition, pages 160: (2), (3) - 172, (4, blank), 2 vols, 12mo, bound in 1, with separate title-pages, signatures and pagination, contemporary calf, with label, gilt: one or two early gatherings a little proud, otherwise a very good-nice copy of a very rare book. The very rare first Irish edition of a novel first published by the Minerva Press in 1794. Blakey 166. Garside, Raven and Schowerling, 1794:34. Summers Gothic Bibliography 442. Frank The first Gothics 209. One of Jane Austen's seven "Horrid Novels", once thought to be a figment of her imagination. This Irish edition is rarer than the Minerva predecessor; it is the only Irish edition of any of the "Horrid Novels" we can find recorded. A desirable forerunner to Bram Stoker's Dracula.

[Wilde, Oscar]. 1914 postcard handwritten and signed by Lord Alfred Douglas and other related items.

The postcard dated 14 February 1914 is to Douglas' father-in-law, Colonel Custance, criticising him for allowing his daughter, Olive, Douglas' wife to watch prize-fights in the company of Lord Clonmell and accusing him of trying to separate her from her husband. Also 1912 letter from Robert Ross to Sir George Lewis concerning Lady Glenconner and Lady Queensbury, The Genius of Lord Alfred Douglas by W. Sorley Brown pp8 in original wappers, and two other items. (5)
Lord Alfred Bruce Douglas (1870-1945), nicknamed Bosie, was a British author, poet and translator, better known as the friend and lover of the writer Oscar Wilde. Olive Custance (1874-1944) was the only daughter and heiress of Colonel Frederick Custance, who was a wealthy and distinguished soldier in the British army. Custance was bisexual. In 1901 she became involved in a lesbian relationship with writer Natalie Clifford Barney in Paris. Custance then became engaged to George Montagu, but ran away and married Lord Alfred Douglas instead. Her father did not approve of Douglas, and the two had eloped to avoid having problems. They married on 4 March 1902. They had one child, Raymond Wilfred Sholto Douglas, born on 17 November 1902. They separated in 1913, lived together again for a time in the 1920s but separated again later, though they never divorced.

1908 (28 April) William Butler Yeats signed letter
Typescript letter sent from 18 Woburn Buildings, London by W. B. Yeats. Interesting content relating to a child's poetry which has been sent to him "...the poem about The Lily closes in a very poetical and delicate thought 'In thy silvery dream I am bound'. Of course one can never say what so young a child is going to do in the future. Children of that age occasionally write little poems, very naturally and simply. Later on come bad models bringing with them lack of sincerity. I am very much struck by the strong feeling for rhythm in these verses."

1979 James Hunt Walter Wolf Racing Formula One suit.

A racing suit worn by James Hunt in his last year of Formula One for Walter Wolf.

Provenance: with Collector Studio - Motorsport Gallery, Toronto, Canada; Private Collection Dublin

In 1979 Hunt had resolved to leave the McLaren team. Despite his poor season in 1978 he was still very much in demand. He was offered a deal to drive for Ferrari in 1979, but wary of the potentially complicated political environment at the Italian team, he opted to move instead to the initially very successful Walter Wolf Racing team. Again he had high hopes to win races and compete for the world championship in what would be his last, and ultimately brief, Formula One season. The team's ground effect car was uncompetitive and Hunt soon lost any enthusiasm for racing. Hunt could only watch as Jody Scheckter won the World Driver's championship that year driving the Ferrari 312T4.

At the first race in Argentina, he felt the car was difficult to handle and on a fast lap, the front wing became detached, narrowly striking his helmet. In the race, Hunt retired due to an electrical fault. In Brazil, he retired on lap 6 due to instability under braking caused by a loose steering rack. During qualifying in South Africa, the brakes on his car failed. He managed not to collide with the wall, but only finished 8th in the race. He retired at the Spanish Grand Prix after 26 laps. At Zolder, a new Wolf WR8 was raced but Hunt crashed into a barrier hard enough to bounce back onto the track. After failing to finish the 1979 Monaco Grand Prix, the race where six years previously he had made his debut, Hunt made a statement on 8 June 1979 to the press announcing his immediate retirement and walked away from F1 competition.

Formula 1 2001: Full Eddie Irvine Jaguar racing outfit including helmet worn during the Monaco Grand Prix.

The full Jaguar racing outfit worn by Eddie Irvine during many races including the 2001 Monaco Grand Prix when Irvine placed third securing Jaguar Racing's first podium finish. Comprising of helmet, overalls, shoes, underwear (the vest signed by Irvine) All with certificate of authenticity issued by Jaguar. A wonderful collection associated with Ireland's greatest ever Formula One driver.

Edmund "Eddie" Irvine, Jr. (born 10 November 1965) is a former racing driver from Northern Ireland. Irvine grew up in Conlig, County Down, and was influenced by his parents, who were also involved in motor racing. His professional racing career began in 1983 and he progressed to Formula Three racing in 1988, before moving on to Formula 3000 in 1989. He started racing for Jordan in the Formula 3000 series in 1990, and was subsequently picked up by the Jordan Formula One team in 1993. His reputation steadily increased in Formula One, eventually leading Ferrari to sign him to partner Michael Schumacher in 1996. His most successful season was 1999; Irvine won four races, taking the Drivers' Championship to the last race in which he finished third. In the overall Championship he finished as runner-up to McLaren driver Mika Häkkinen. He left Ferrari the following year for the new Jaguar Racing team and was the only driver to get Jaguar to the podium in their short F1 history; he achieved this feat twice.

Charles II St Patrick farthing 1674.
Fine. This coin was struck in Dublin. The details of the issuer and of the intended denomination are not precisely clear. Many of these coins were transported to the American colonies (mainly by a Mark Newby) where they circulated apparently as farthings, and many American numismatists regard them as American coins. The brass plug in the obverse is intentional and is designed to make the crown appear golden. The legends are: FLOREAT REX - May the king flourish. QUIESCAT PLEBS - May the people be calm. The obverse is commonly described as the biblical King David playing a harp; and the reverse as St Patrick ridding Ireland of the reptiles with Dublin's St Patrick's Cathedral in the background. The reverse bears a striking similarity to the tokens of Richard Grenwood of Dublin which also undated but of the general type of late 1650s tokens. (Details from www.irishcoinage.com).

THE ART OF SELLING AT WHYTE'S

Whyte's - Ireland's Leading Auction House for Fine Art and Collectibles

Whyte & Sons was founded in Dublin in 1783 and in the past three centuries the Whyte family business has expanded and evolved with the times from specialising in exquisite glass and china to rare stamps and postal history, historical artefacts, coins, medals, manuscripts, maps, ephemera, memorabilia and a wide range of other collectibles. The main business today is in Irish art from the great masters to the best of Ireland's emerging contemporaries.

Under the direction of Ian Whyte, this longstanding family business is firmly established as an art and collectibles auction house of immense reputation, both in Ireland and internationally. Coupled with the enthusiastic adoption of modern technology, Whyte's offers all the advantages and old world civility of a 'bricks and mortar' auction house with the convenience of instant worldwide electronic commerce.

Whyte's auction at the Royal Dublin Society

In six to eight carefully planned sales a year we offer an unrivalled range of Irish art and collectibles. Our main art sales are held at the Royal Dublin Society, in the exclusive south

Dublin suburb of Ballsbridge. Our other sales – including our famous History, Literature and Collectibles sales - take place in Molesworth Street with viewing in our galleries and the auctions across the street at the historic Freemasons Hall.

Whyte's city centre offices and galleries are located in the last intact terrace of Georgian shopfronts in Dublin, completed in 1831, near the famous landmarks of St. Stephen's Green, Trinity College, Leinster House and the fashionable shopping area of Grafton Street.

All sales are broadcast live, both audio and video, on the internet through Artifact (USA) and Invaluable (Europe) where you can watch and listen to the auction, leave bids or bid while the auction is taking place, from anywhere in the world. You can also view and bid from a smartphone.

WHYTE'S SPECIALISTS

Ian Whyte has been handling the sale of collectibles since the mid 1960s and became a licensed auctioneer in 1975. He has in the last four decades handled not only fine art but also specialised sales of a great variety of collectibles including antiquarian books, autographs, banknotes, cigarette cards, coins, ephemera, medals, manuscripts, maps, militaria, photographs, pop and rock memorabilia, posters, postage stamps and postal history, postcards, toys, to mention but a few! He has made many appearances on television and radio and in printed media, both national and international.

Sarah Gates BA, graduated with an honours degree in art history and French from Trinity College Dublin in 1999 and has been with Whyte's since 2000. Sarah is responsible for the organisation of the auctions at the RDS as well as valuations for sale, probate, insurance and division. Sarah regularly calls auctions at both the RDS and other locations. She joined the Board of Directors in November 2006.

Adelle Hughes BA MA, holds a first class honours Masters degree in Arts Management and Cultural Policy from University College Dublin as well as an honours BA International degree in Art History, having spent one of the four year course in Universidad Complutense, Madrid. Adelle is a member of the Irish Association of Art Historians and has worked on a variety of arts and cultural projects both in the private and public sector in Ireland, Europe and most recently for an arts foundation in the United States. Adelle joined Whyte's in November 2008 and was appointed Associate Director in 2011. She is responsible for compiling and editing the critically acclaimed catalogues produced by Whyte's.

Conor Dodd BA joined Whyte's in 2011 as cataloguer of History Literature and Collectibles sales. Conor holds an honours degree from University College Dublin in Gaeilge (Irish language) and History and is currently pursuing a Masters degree in Military History and Strategic Studies at National University of Ireland (NUI), Maynooth.

Conor has worked as a historical consultant and researcher for various television programmes for the BBC, RTÉ, TG4 and ITV, and has also given numerous interviews on radio. He has contributed articles to several publications and is a regular speaker on military history and genealogy to societies.

SELLING AT WHYTE'S – a step by step guide

- Receive a COMPLIMENTARY valuation

Call to our galleries, 9.30am-5.30pm Monday to Friday, or telephone 01 676 2888 for an appointment to meet a specialist or write to us with details and photos by email or post. We can also call to inspect large collections at homes or offices. Whyte's experts regularly visit most parts of Ireland and Great Britain and often travel elsewhere in the world to value art and collectibles.

- Once you have decided to sell...

We will work together with you to decide on an auction estimate and a reserve.

An estimate is what the item is expected to fetch and a reserve is the price below which the item may not be sold without your permission.

- Agree fees/expenses

Commission varies according to the value of the art or collectibles consigned – usually 10% to 15% of the price achieved. Reduced rates apply to extremely valuable consignments. A small charge is made for professional photography and insurance against all risks.

- Arrange collection and delivery to Whyte's

Whyte's can arrange to have art and collectibles shipped securely and fully insured from any part of the world.

- Consign

Upon consignment you will be given a receipt which details each item consigned with agreed estimate and reserve. This receipt is a contract between Whyte's and the vendor and clearly states the conditions and charges relating to the consignment.

- Receive the catalogue

A copy of the printed catalogue will be posted to you along with a report listing your entries in the sale.

- Watch the auction

You are welcome to attend the auction. Alternatively you can watch the sale live on the Internet.

- After the auction

You will receive a report of the results and details of commission and expenses deducted.

Settlement takes place 30 days after the date of sale. Payment may be made in any currency to any country. Unsold lots are often purchased immediately after the auction or may be re-offered at a later date.

- Taxation

The sale of art and collectibles may be subject to Capital Gains Tax for residents in the Republic of Ireland. However, there are significant allowances and often these sales incur little or no taxation. Whyte's will be pleased to advise on this and to provide valuations for tax purposes.

WRITTEN VALUATIONS FOR INSURANCE, PROBATE & DIVISION

Whyte's offer professional valuations for Sale, Probate, Family Division, Insurance and other purposes.

All our valuers are experienced and are fully insured for professional indemnity.

Your valuation will be dealt with in the strictest confidence and in a friendly and efficient manner.

Valuation fees are usually charged at a half per cent of value, with a minimum fee based on an hourly charge.

Valuation fees may be waived in the event of the item or items valued being consigned for auction within six months of the date of valuation. At our discretion we may give informal and approximate estimates of value free of charge to prospective sellers.

Among our institutional clients for valuations are: National Library of Ireland, National Museum of Ireland, The Hunt Museum, Limerick, National University of Ireland, University College Cork, National University of Ireland, Galway, University of Limerick, Revenue Commissioners, Córas Iompair Éireann (CIÉ), several city and county councils, courts of law in both the Republic of Ireland and Northern Ireland. We also act for major banks and insurance companies, law firms, accountants, liquidators and receivers.

TAX ADVISORY SERVICES

Whyte's can arrange professional advice on taxation in relation to selling art or collectibles, loaning and gifting to the State and the area of Capital Gains Tax.

We have worked with Ireland's leading accountants and taxation advisors and have advised private clients, artists and businesses in relation to taxation of art and collectibles.

Mary Swanzy €180,000 - 2006 – a world record

Jack Butler Yeats €110,000 - 2011

Paul Henry €145,000 - 2010

Norah McGuinness €20,000 - 2009

BUYING AT WHYTE'S – a step by step guide

- Join our collectors' invitation list

Go to www.whytes.com and register your email address for notifications of Whyte's auctions, invitations to receptions and other events. Or you can telephone or post your details. A small subscription is charged for catalogues by post – this is waived for regular buyers.

- View the sale

Try to attend the pre-sale exhibition, but if this is not possible, email or telephone us for details of the items you are interested in – we are happy to act as your "eyes" and will give impartial advice on quality and condition of any lot in our sales.

- Bidding in the room

Register to bid on the day – you will receive a paddle (number) to be identified by the auctioneer when bidding.

- Bid live online...

From your personal computer or smartphone via our website. All our auctions are broadcast live in streaming audio and video so you can see and hear the auction as you bid – it's the next best thing to being there!

- Cannot make the auction?

Leave an Absentee Bid.

This is where you leave a bid with us and we bid on your behalf at the auction.

You can phone, fax, email or post this bid to us in advance of the auction. Lots are purchased as reasonably as possible, other bids allowing.

- Arrange a telephone bid

This is where a Whyte's staff member calls you during the auction and bids live on your behalf for the lot you are interested in. This facility is only available for lots of a certain value – usually in excess of €1,000 – and must be arranged at least 24 hours prior to the auction.

SOURCING IRISH ART & COLLECTIBLES

Whyte's can also assist in sourcing works of art or other collectibles at galleries and auction houses worldwide. Our specialists comb auctions and exhibitions throughout the world – both printed and on-line – to find rare and beautiful objects for our discerning clientele. We sometimes have offers of art and collectibles for sale by private treaty. We regularly represent and bid on behalf of clients at auction houses and galleries around the world.

WHYTE'S GIFT CERTIFICATES

The ideal choice for Weddings, Birthdays, Anniversaries, Christmas, Retirements and any special occasion. Each certificate is personalised and beautifully presented in a hand tied gift box. Includes a complimentary full year's subscription to Whyte's catalogues and invitations to Whyte's Private Preview exhibitions. Enquire at our galleries today.
